CAR FEE $5 EACH WAY

$2 Fare Set For Ferries

The B.C. government's new ferry service will go into effect June 15 with a one-way-only fare schedule.

Fares approved today by a cabinet order in council are $2 each person and $5 per car. There are no return fares.

Ferry manager Monty Aldous said the two government-built ferries Sidney and Teasawassen will run every two hours between the terminals after which they are named.

First boat will be at 7 a.m. daily and last boat at 9 p.m. Mr. Aldous said he knew of no snags to hold up the target date for the first public run June 15.

He said he was going out to Swartz Bay to check on construction today.

A splashy pre-inaugural run is planned for June 9. It will show off the new service to tourist officials and the press. The fares make allowance for half-fare for children between five and 12. Those under five will travel free. Ministers who can readily identify themselves will also travel half-fare.

Parties of 10 will get a fare reduction to $150. Parties of 25 or more will go for $110 apiece.

A standard stateroom will cost $2, a de luxe stateroom $3.

Wheat Deal Criticized

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's credit sale of wheat to Poland—instead of a straight cash deal—has proven "embarrassing" for Canada among nations seeking orderly competition in export credit. H. T. Altken, president of the Export Credits Insurance Corporation, told a Commons committee today.

The $13,900,000 wheat deal was authorized by the governor-in-council on a three-year credit basis and guaranteed by the corporation although wheat is normally sold on a cash basis.

Mr. Altken told the Commons public accounts committee that the wheat deal was "continually thrown up in my face" at international gatherings of export credit insurers.

BED SHORTAGE

Probe Asks Hospitals Review

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons estimates committee, expressing concern for hospital crowding, today recommended that an immediate review be made to determine the available space in relation to demand for beds.

The report, tabled in the Commons by chairman Art Smith (PC-Calgary South), urged federal, provincial and municipal government to assess the results of this survey so as to avert any future critical bed shortage and to provide more space for critically-ill patients "by attacking the problem of chronic bed care."

The report said out-patient care and diagnostic services bear a direct relation to in-patient hospital congestion and suggested to see where changes might relieve the in-patient hospital load.

MENTAL ILLNESS

Other recommendations:
1. Further money grants should be provided to increase scientific knowledge of the causes of mental illness and its treatment.

2. A joint federal-provincial study should be started now to improve standards of treatment and facilities for care of mentally ill.

3. With 70,000 Canadians in hospitals or mentally-defective training schools, "too little money has been directed toward research on mental illness."

4. The federal health department should speed up its survey of resources and facilities to cope with the problem of emotionally-disturbed children.

5. Physical fitness of Canadians "is cause for concern," and it is hoped that a joint committee of the federal health department and a Canadian Medical Association studying the problem will find a comprehensive plan to improve physical fitness standards.

6. With 5,847 children in institutions ineligible for family allowances, the government should consider changing this "unfair and unjust" exclusion.

7. The federal government should review its policy of not paying family allowances for children of servicemen stationed abroad.

8. Elimination of the means test for payment of allowances to blind persons should be considered by the federal government.

9. Deaths among Indian babies before they reach the age of one year account for 40 per cent of Indian deaths—three times higher than the average for the rest of Canada. Twenty-three per cent of Eskimo babies die in infancy.

10. Every effort should be made to speed up improvement of health facilities and increased medical care should be provided, starting with recruiting of nursing staffs in Indian and Eskimo communities.

11. On civil defence, the national survival program should be speeded up by the federal government on raising standards of "delinquent provincial programs."

TORONTO (CP)—A $10,000 gift to assist victims of recent earthquakes and tidal waves in Chile was announced today by the Canadian Red Cross Society.

COST LOWER, HELLYER CLAIMS

Canada 'Misled' on Arrow

OTTAWA (CP)—Paul Hellyer accused the government today of grossly misleading the public on estimated cost of the Arrow interceptor program.

The Liberal MP for Toronto Trinity said in the Commons defence committee that 200 Arrows could have been procured for about $1,200,000,000 or $1,000,000,000 less than the figure given by Defence Minister Pearkes and Associate Defence Minister Sevigny.

Mr. Hellyer, former Associate defence minister, said Mr. Pearkes had based the higher figure on an armament control system and a missile which the government had cancelled in 1958.

"This is an unbelievable use of hypothetical figures and gives a distorted figure to the extent of $1,000,000,000," Mr. Hellyer said.

ENTIRE PROGRAM

Deputy Defence Minister Frank Miller said the $2,300,000,000 embraced costs from the start of the Arrow program.

Mr. Hellyer said that Mr. Pearkes had told the commit-

DROP LESS THAN NORMAL

Jobless Total Up Over '59

OTTAWA (CP)—A smaller-than-normal drop in Canada's unemployment between mid-March and mid-April left the country's jobless rolls at 517,000 on April 23, the government estimated today.

DOLLAR DIFFERENCE: ONE CENT

MONTREAL (CP)—The difference between the Canadian and United States dollar stood at one cent at noon today.

The Bank of Montreal quoted the noon discount rate at 1 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, making the U.S. dollar worth 99 cents.

This is the lowest U.S. discount level—or highest dollar value—since Jan. 8, 1958, when it was also 1 per cent.

Turkish Deputies Fight at Session

'GUTS AND INITIATIVE' WANTED SAYS BENNETT

(See Also Page 15)

LONDON (CP)—Premier Bennett today began telling British investors how B.C. is waiting for them to come with "guts and initiative."

He opened a busy two-week tour of Britain with a luncheon given by the merchant banking firm of Brown, Shipley and Company, Limited.

His message to all potential investors, he says, will be:

"We want British capital and British workers—investors and people who are prepared to work darned hard and who do not expect a fortune just to fall into their laps."

Doctors Rapped By Sask. Premier

ESTEVAN, Sask. (CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas Tuesday night accused some members of the medical profession with using "abominable, despicable and scurrilous" methods to defeat the CCF's proposed compulsory, prepaid medical plan.

The premier was speaking to about 1,000 people at an election rally here.

Waving a tabloid-size circular, Premier Douglas said it contained "unbelievable" propaganda aimed at scuttling the prepaid medical insurance scheme he hopes to implement in 1961.

"I warn you that a very serious campaign is being carried on against the plan, not only by some doctors but by hack writers they have brought in from Eastern Canada and the United States to put out stuff like this."

He said he did not accuse any political party for circulating the material because it bore no name—required under the Canada Elections Act.

"I do not object," the premier said, "to people opposing the medical plan, but I do object to them getting into the gutter to do it."

TIDAL WAVE MAY HAVE KILLED 800

Japan Begins Mopping Up

TOKYO (CP)—Japan today began cleaning up the destruction caused by a series of tidal waves which raced across the Pacific from quake-hit Chile and slammed into the eastern coast of these islands.

Japan was the worst hit among several Pacific islands battered by the giant waves, including the Philippines, New Zealand, Hawaii, New Guinea and the Solomon Islands.

The death toll in Japan was counted in scores. Though still unsettled as rescue workers dug through debris, one unofficial report put the deaths as high as 800. Police said at least 150,000 were homeless.

The police listed 95 dead, 85 missing and 854 injured, 2,621 ships sunk or washed out to sea, 4,079 homes destroyed, 41,800 flooded, dikes broken at 80 places and 251 bridges wrecked.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today designated sections of Hawaii recently hit by tidal waves as a major disaster area eligible for federal relief funds.

TIDAL WAVES built up by earthquakes in Chile (1) hit New Zealand (2) with most of damage at Auckland; central and northern Japan (3) and killed 33 persons in Hilo (4). Hawaii's second largest city, Coast of California was hit from Los Angeles to Oregon border (5). In Alaska (6) a 15-foot wave smashed against Montague Island. (AP Newsmag)

Toll Nears 5,000

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—A new earthquake which authorities described as of "cataclysmic proportions" hit southern Chile today, bringing new tidal waves and volcano eruptions.

Government officials expressed fear the death toll would surpass 5,000.

Two million were believed homeless.

Nine volcanoes which had been silent for half a century belched forth smoke, ash and lava over a wide area of southern Chile, already devastated in the worst series of earthquakes in the history of the nation.

Today's quake was one of four major quakes since Sunday and authorities said the entire topography of the country was being changed. There have been a steady series of shocks during that period with some areas trembling without letup.

Seismologists said the major quake today was grade 12 on the international Mercalli scale—which is of cataclysmic proportions. They said it registered 9.2 on local Richter scale—though none higher than 9 has ever been reported before.

With it came one of the huge tidal waves that has wrecked villages all along the south Chilean coast.

BEELCHING FIRE

Two new volcanoes on the shores of Lake Rinihue added their horror to that of at least seven already known to be erupting. Osorno, the biggest of them all, was belching fire that could be seen for miles.

The formation of the new volcanoes—one already more than 300 feet high—displaced the lake bed and sent masses of water surging into the landslide-dammed San Pedro River, creating a new threat to quake-devastated Valdivia.

The rumbling peaks jetted smoke as much as 23,000 feet in the air, and some of them also belched glowing streaks of lava. Fortunately, few Chilean towns are located near the volcanoes that were in action today.

MOKE LOOTING

New reports of looting came from the disaster-zone. In the Puerto Saavedra region, half-drowned by this week's tidal waves, troops were ordered to take "energetic action" to put a stop to "acts of pillage" by Indians.

A new tidal wave lashed Chile's southern coast Tuesday and a major earthquake was reported in the offshore Chile Islands.

Observers at the University of Chile said this week's earthquakes were "the most intense ever recorded." Seismologists said in the Canary Islands said they were worse than those which devastated southern Peru or the Moroccan Riviera earlier this year.

THIS WORLD OF OURS People and Things

DAYTON, Ohio — Mary Pickford, Toronto-born sweetheart of the silent movies, is still having trouble with the zipper on her dress.

In a speech Tuesday night at the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation conference on co-operative education, the 66-year-old Miss Pickford, one of three women trustees for the foundation, opened her remarks before the distinguished gathering of scientists and educationists with this question: "What are you doing about the zipper?"

Miss Pickford recalled that she was 20 minutes late for the first conference two years ago because a zipper on her dress stuck.

"Tonight it happened again—the same hotel three years afterward," she said. "I could only reach up so far. I was rescued by a married man and a bachelor. I won't tell you who they were."

ESTIMATED, Cal. — was had night for knives when Pedro Garcia started swinging the broadsword.

Garcia, all-night porter at the Queen's Arms restaurant, was snoozing early Tuesday when three men unhooked the front door and entered.

Garcia awakened, grabbed a broadsword from among the antique wall decorations, and charged, crying "cudabao!" which translates roughly "watch out!"

The 26-year-old porter laid about among the varlets until he broke the sword's dull blade upon one man's backside. The trio, beaten full sore, fled.

MIAMI BEACH — Rumanian-born Andre Porumbescu, who took a job at Miami Beach after his runaway marriage to heiress Gamble Benedict, is quitting to fight a divorce action by a previous wife.

Morris Lansburgh, president of the Miami Beach Associated Hotels, Inc., which operates the Deauville and other hotels, said he has "regretfully accepted" the way-haired Andre's resignation as director of guest relations at the Deauville.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — Neighborhood complaints that she trimmed her lawn with a power mower too early in the morning today had Mrs. Orville E. Brady serving 15 days in city jail.

Mrs. Brady was arrested April 20 on the complaint of neighbors who told police she created a disturbance by mowing her lawn at 6:30 a.m.

HOLLYWOOD — Singer Eartha Kitt returned to her Hollywood home Tuesday and found personal effects worth $30,000 missing, her two servants gone and her wide assortment of pets hungry. A few hours later police recovered from a downtown pawnshop some of the missing valuables. Police said the pawnbroker identified photos of two missing servants as the persons who pawned the items.

LONDON — Actress-model Suzy Parker, 27, says if she marries again, it won't be to a Frenchman.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Victoria man who said injuries from a traffic accident forced him to retire as an insurance company manager in Calgary has accepted $9,543 in settlement of Supreme Court suit.

Cecil Merritt Bradley, sued Allan Johnson and Harold Edward Janzen of New Westminster, owner and driver, respectively, of a truck which collided with his car Nov. 20, 1958.

Bradley claimed his injuries forced him to retire early from his position with the Prudential Life Insurance Company in Calgary.

He sued for $1,808 medical and other expenses and unstated general damages.

RED CHINA CHARGES PRESAGE NEW PRESSURE

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China accused the United States today of increasing its "war activities" in the Formosa Straits and of sending military officials to Quemoy to "spy" on the mainland.

Western officials said this might be the preliminary to new Communist pressure against the Nationalist offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

The accusations broadcast by the Communist New China News Agency coincided with new Communist-inspired tension in the Indo-Chinese kingdom of Laos and in free South Viet Nam. Laos was placed on full alert today against the possibility of resurgent Communist activities.

Pension Transfers Urged on House

OTTAWA (CP)—Industrial employees should be entitled to take along employer contributions to their pension funds when they change jobs, the Commons was told Tuesday. Several members said these provisions on a national scale would remove financial and security handicaps for employees.

Finance Minister Fleming reiterated the government stand that the matter is primarily provincial, with the sole federal powers tied up in the income tax exemptions provided for employer and employee contributions to industrial pension funds.

The matter was raised as a grievance by W. H. McMillan (L—Welland), H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) and Hubert Badanal (L—Fort William).

Inter-Union Battles 'A Disgrace to Labor'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Inter-union spats are becoming a pain-in-the-neck for the courts, a British Columbia Supreme Court justice said Tuesday.

"These jurisdictional disputes are a disgrace to labor," said Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane when he dismissed an application from the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) for an injunction against Coast Ferries Limited.

"They (unions) should find some other way of settling their disputes without spending all the workmen's money in litigation," he said. "I think they ought to stop this nonsense. They are just cutting each other's throats."

Immigration Racket Netted $44 Million

OTTAWA (CP)—A sordid immigration racket-involving blackmail, extortion, forged documents and slave Chinese labor—has lined the pockets of operators with an estimated $44,000,000.

More than 30 raids were carried out in nine Canadian cities Tuesday morning to gather evidence against promoters of the operation, described by Immigration Minister Fairclough as "large-scale."

In the last 10 years about 21,000 Chinese immigrants have been admitted to Canada. More than half of them—11,000—may have entered illegally under cover of the far-flung racket, said RCMP Commissioner C. W. Harvison.

NO ARRESTS

Commissioner Harvison said no arrests are planned until the RCMP has a sufficient number of the ring-leaders.

The chief objective of Tuesday's raids—carried out in Montreal, Toronto, Peterborough, Sarnia, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver—was to obtain evidence against the racketeers, believed to include both Chinese and whites.

Late in the day, Montreal RCMP and Hong Kong police agents obtained special warrants to search safety deposit boxes and other documents of those believed implicated.

The Chinese entered Canada with forged documents which they bought for a price in Hong Kong or Portuguese Macao—on the China mainland about 80 miles from the Crown colony.

EXPENSIVE PAPERS

The average price was about $4,000 but some immigrants paid as much as $8,000. The 'Pessimistic' Liberal Views on Jobless Hit

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—Paul Martineau, parliamentary secretary to the prime minister, said Tuesday the Liberals have dipped into the past for a solution to present unemployment that failed to work 20 years ago.

Furthermore, he said in Commons debate on a Liberal non-confidence motion, Paul Martin (L-Exeter East) had advanced his proposal of a national economic advisory board on the basis of a false and pessimistic view of the state of the Canadian economy.

Mr. Martineau, Progressive Conservative MP for Pontiac-Témiscamingue, said Mr. Martin's proposal was appealing on the surface but fell flat when viewed against the Liberal record.

The Liberals had established a national employment commission in 1936 when the unemployed numbered some 400,000. After spending $325,000, the commission reported in 1939.

'A Big Beach, Radiant and Sunny'

A different view from Mr. Martineau's was expressed by Douglas Fisher (CCF-Port Arthur), who said Labor Minister Starr's assessment of the Canadian economy sounds like a big beach radiant and sunny with warm water and a safe depth.

But there are in fact a number of holes "where people can slip off and drown," said the socialist MP. He doubted whether the cabinet or senior civil servants can work out solutions to Canadian problems of automation, trade, unemployment and the like.

Mr. Fisher's references to Mr. Starr related to the labor minister's statement Monday night that the Canadian economy is healthy with labor income at record levels, industrial production substantially higher than under the Liberal government and many thousands more workers employed.

Mr. Martineau, in attacking Mr. Martin's view of the economy, said the "astounding progress" in Canada's export trade and in reducing the trade deficit in the first quarter of this year is not a basis of pessimism or for seeing great weakness in the economy.

A census of the unemployed was proposed by Paul Hellyer (L-Toronto Trinity) who said it is necessary to obtain as much information as possible about causes of unemployment.

Acting State Secretary Balcer said there has been no extension since 1954 of categories of government workers requiring fingerprinting and none now is planned.

The categories were set out in various steps by the previous Liberal administration, he said in a Commons reply to questions last week by Opposition leader Pearson and H. W. Herdridge (CCF, Kootenay West).

DILEMMA faced by the discharged mental patient will be theme of a two-day conference this week by the Mental Health Association. Dr. James S. Tyhurst, head of the University of B.C. psychiatry department, will speak at a public meeting at 8 p.m., Friday, in the Crystal Garden lower ballroom. His topic will be "Rehabilitation and Mental Health Services."

Big U.S. Spy Satellite 'Functioning Perfectly'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An experimental American "spy" satellite whirled about the earth every 94.34 minutes today, ready to test its missile-detection equipment on giant flares and friendly rockets.

The Midas, weighing 2½ tons, will determine the feasibility of using a series of such satellites to patrol the earth for enemy missiles. These orbiting space stations will use infra-red sensing devices to detect the heat trail of a hostile missile the instant it is fired. The test vehicle was launched Tuesday into a near-circular orbit from this missile base. Air force officials reported its path through space ranged from an apogee of 322 miles to a perigee of 292.1 miles. They said its radio and sensors were functioning perfectly and that it performed as planned so that its instrument-laden nose always is pointed at the earth.

23 FEET LONG
The mammoth satellite, 22 feet long and five feet in diameter, probably will test its equipment for the first time on huge sodium flares set to ignite at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The first flare will be fired within a few days, at a time when the satellite passes overhead.

Midas also will try to pick up rocket launchings at Cape Canaveral and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., during its expected useful life of three to four weeks. It probably will remain in orbit about three years.

The sensors will be able to differentiate between rockets and other heat-producing sources on the earth's surface.

The satellite is following a course that covers all territory 22 degrees north and south of the equator. Thus it does not pass over Russia. However, by the end of the year, an advanced Midas and the first Samos reconnaissance satellite are expected to be spinning in polar orbits that will take them over the Soviet Union.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge pushed for a verdict by tonight so the 11-nation council could take up President Eisenhower's new plan for an "open skies" inspection system under UN control.

The Midas "spy-in-the-sky" satellite, hurled into orbit from Cape Canaveral Tuesday, was known to have a key role in the plan, which would subject strategic areas of the world to constant surveillance, thus guaranteeing all nations against surprise attack.

ONE MORE SPEECH
Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was expected to make one more speech in the council before allowing a vote, in which case it was likely Lodge would present a rebuttal.

However, Italian Ambassador Egidio Ortora appeared to sum up majority opinion in the council Tuesday night when he said the U-2 issue "would appear to have lost most of its significance in view of the performance of the satellites."

"Instead of dwelling on the U-2 type of flight, we should address ourselves to constructive proposals such as the "open skies" plan," Ortora declared.

That the Soviet stand in the debate was destructive rather than constructive was the opinion voiced Tuesday by Great Britain, France, Argentina and Nationalist China, as well as Italy.

BACKED BY POLAND
Only Communist Poland took the Russian side in the argument that American aerial reconnaissance flights over Russia were a "threat to universal peace."

The small nations were anxious to take up a resolution sponsored by Tunisia, Ceylon, Ecuador and Argentina which urges the Big Four to resume crucial negotiations broken off at the Paris Summit meeting. Debate on the proposal could come before the week is out.

Gromyko is reported to have been angered by the proposal on the basis that it detracted from the Soviet condemnation resolution.

Diplomats doubted that Russia would chance unfavorable world opinion by voting against the measure, which does nothing more than urge East and West to make another attempt at easing international tensions, this time with greater emphasis on UN facilities.

It was considered possible, however, that the Communist council members would attempt to amend the resolution to contain a general condemnation of U.S. espionage.

Weakening the Law

THE DIFENBAKER GOVERNMENT'S new combines legislation revives the basic issue raised in 1910 when the Laurier Government first moved to make combines illegal.

As always throughout these fifty years, the two political parties are deeply divided on this issue. In 1919 and again in the 1930's Conservative Governments watered down the combines laws, holding that they were unduly restrictive of big business. Liberal Governments systematically strengthened them in the twenties and again in the fifties. Now the weakening process is under way again, as described on this page in three articles, the last of which appears today.

Mr. Davie Fulton's first move, undertaken last year, was to restore the system of retail price maintenance outlawed under the former Government, but he withdrew his bill under strong public protest.

This year he reintroduces it in modified form, but the purpose is clear enough. Manufacturers who wish to fix the retail price of their products can do so by indirect coercion of the retailer. Price maintenance remains banned in theory but is restored in practice.

Another section of the new legislation permits the minister of justice to attack combines under the Combines Investigation Act instead of the Criminal Code, as in the past. Moreover, accused persons may be tried, at the minister's discretion, in the Exchequer Court, which has no experience in these matters but will rescue these persons from the obloquy of criminal trial.

Then the Government proposes to dull the teeth of the combines law by a long and complex series of new definitions.

For example, business concerns are prohibited from combining against the public interest but they are allowed to exchange various classes of information which really means that they can probably operate in combination without appearing to do so. Again, the minister of justice may suppress a combines investigation without explanation to Parliament.

No wonder that the new legislation has assured the sharpest struggle of the parliamentary session. It touches one of the most fundamental problems, dividing our political parties. It forces Parliament to decide whether the competitive system should be strictly maintained or gradually whittled away in favor of powerful business interests.

The new law is clearly the narrow end of the wedge which, driven home by later amendments, would destroy half a century's attack on combines in restraint of trade.

Reversal in Quebec

UNDOUBTEDLY THE QUEBEC election now under way is the most important political event in Canada since the national election of 1958.

Since the Union Nationale Government of Premier Barrette is the provincial Conservative Party of Quebec, under another name, and has been for many years, its defeat would shake the Diefenbaker Government profoundly.

No national Government can prosper, or long survive, without substantial support among the French Canadian people, a third of the nation. And if the Barrette Government cannot carry Quebec provincially it is improbable that the Conservative Party can carry it nationally some two years from now.

Far more than in any other province now moving to the polls, the national parties are concerned with the provincial results in Quebec. Thus the recent debates of Parliament have ostensibly discussed federal policy but in fact have been laying the groundwork of the Quebec election. And in these debates the great issue of the election has been identified.

So long as the Liberal Government was in office at Ottawa Quebec refused to accept federal grants to its universities because, in the opinion of the late Premier Duplessis, they violated Quebec's autonomy.

The Diefenbaker Government got around this difficulty by devising a new formula under which the university grants are to be paid by the Quebec Government through an increased corporation tax. The provincial tax on corporations will be deducted from their federal taxes.

Gore on Wenner-Gren

IN AN INTERVIEW IN VANCOUVER Mr. Bernard Gore, president of the Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company, says that "The accusations against him (Wenner-Gren) are untrue but this isn't the issue."

If Mr. Gore has some new information on these charges, he should reveal them. Otherwise, his offhand statement is an indictment of the government of Canada, which black-listed Wenner-Gren in 1942; of Great Britain, the United States and two other countries. The charge against him was quite simple: trading with the Nazis, which is why his current prominence in this province is so repugnant to so many people.

In another curious statement in the same interview, Mr. Gore claims that his company has spent $9.5 millions in its development program in B.C. Six months ago his colleague, W. C. Mainwaring, publicly declared the figure to be $5.2 millions. In view of these, and other wildly conflicting statements made from time to time on the Peace, it would appear that the principals involved should talk to each other on occasion and work out a consistent party line.

No Refuge

IT IS ALL WRONG AND wicked, of course, but most Canadians will have a sneaking sympathy with the citizen of Winnipeg who recently assaulted a juke box in a restaurant.

Brought before a magistrate, the offender pleaded that he had taken the law into his own hands because the restaurant management refused to reduce the hideous sounds of mechanical music.

This is no defence before the courts. No one is legally entitled to take the law into his own hands. Yet somehow we have a private admiration for this rebel who dared to do what millions of restaurant patrons throughout America would like to do. He stopped the music.

He saved the ears of the other patrons. He raised his humble flag of rebellion against one of this age's infernal nuisances.

But as The Winnipeg Free Press notes, the attrition on the human ear is about to increase. In the summer season, it predicts, "we shall be assaulted with fresh murderers of silence — the portable radios which blare on street corners, in buses, parks and on the beaches."

The Winnipeg bylaws forbid the nuisance of unnecessary noise but they are not enforced. Where, in all America, one might ask, are such bylaws enforced? Where is there any refuge from noise? Not even in Victoria, this best, and best-managed, of all possible cities?

BATTLE TO THE NEAREST EXIT

A True Test of Human Skill and Courage

By B. A. TOBIN

A WRITER in the New York Times raises the matter of theatre etiquette. What drives people, he asks, who dash from their seats at the final curtain as though it were the signal to start a sprint for life? He allows a few the benefit of the doubt: they have to catch last trains, relieve baby sitters, or meet other "must" requirements. Of others he speculates that they merely want to beat someone else to a good table at an after-theatre club or make sure of catching a taxi. There are even some, he suggests, who use the trampling rush as a means of indicating that they didn't think much of the show and can't wait to get outside.

Such goings-on, of course, are entirely foreign to Victoria audiences. It is inconceivable that anyone here would rush for the exit, stepping on toes, jabbing with elbows, poking with umbrellas, and pushing in the back. We can afford a more leisurely pace than New Yorkers, having no last trains to catch, and no night clubs to go to.

Sports Event

But in this we miss something, and I feel that the New York writer has missed the point too. For theatre exit rushing is not merely a display of bad manners—although it may be in some persons. It is becoming more and more widely recognized as a form of sport in itself.

It has not, of course, received Olympic Games recognition. It has not yet been sufficiently organized for that; there are standards to be set, regulations to be agreed to on a country-wide basis, a central regulatory body to be formed and so on.

But sooner or later theatre exitry will be accepted for what it is: a sterling test of character and physical stamina which deserves to rank with the marathon, the pentathlon, and other well-known trials of human determination and strength.

Appreciation of theatre exitry came about naturally enough among those who participated or who began to observe the techniques used by certain performers. Almost imperceptibly, and certainly without any formal arrangement among the participants, there grew up a terminology—the thrust, jab, parry, trip, double-foot, elbow-grind, shin-crack, and the dread knee-cross—to cover the more commonly-used devices and "plays" of the sport.

Challenge Accepted

For sport it was with many of the devotees, there could be no question of that. Sheer love of the game, a clean human desire to meet the challenge, was what drove most exitrymen to perform. Once having run the course they would in all probability loiter in the foyer of the theatre, having nowhere else to go. They would observe the performances of other players, mentally review their own run and try to find flaws which could be remedied.

There was thus a community of interest among many of the lobby-leiturers which eventually was recognized. Exitry had taken an important step toward acceptance by officialdom.

Unfortunately it has not advanced much farther since. What is needed is a national committee which could represent local as well as state or provincial organizations, and place the whole thing on an official basis.

There are records, unofficial though they may be, which should command the attention and respect of the sports world.

Henry T. Pilbeam of Brooklyn established a mark to be admired in the fall of 1958 when he negotiated 132 feet of crowded aisle in the Metropolitan Opera House in 13 and three-tenths seconds. Considering the difficulties of the course, the pitch of the slope, the number of persons to be thrust aside and the interference of two ushers, this constitutes a truly remarkable time. Indeed, it has rarely been bettered even under more favorable conditions.

Raw Courage

An Edgar B. Provost of Toronto is said to have beaten 78 persons, including a number of formidable women competitors, in a dash from the footlights to the main exit of Massey Hall about three years ago. No time was kept, although it is believed to have been well under 30 seconds, and the term "a provost" has come in Canadian circles to designate any gallant run against terrific odds.

Richard D. Trimble of Newark, N.J., on a dare rushed the length of a 93-foot aisle with a slope of 8.5 degrees immediately after the close of a women's convention, as 2,400 lady delegates prepared to leave a New York auditorium. He made an admirable run and established himself as a master of the art, but the strain proved too much for him and he shortly afterward retired from active competition. He had set himself a heroic test, of course, and his feat was widely recognized as a classic.

Enough has been said to indicate the scope of the sport and the possibilities it would have once standardization has been approved and national status awarded. With that, Olympic recognition would soon follow.

FROM PARIS

A Balance Sheet of Facts to be Faced

AFTER the ugly scenes of the aborted summit meeting, it is wise to make up a sort of balance sheet of facts to be faced. The first fact that needs facing, alas, is the grave loss of prestige and confidence of the United States.

On the one hand, no one who has watched Khrushchev's macabre and brutal performance in Paris can doubt that this man is capable of striking at the U.S. and the West with every bomb in his arsenal, if ever he believed he can do so with impunity.

On the other hand, the military balance, though still apparently satisfactory, is plainly tilting in Khrushchev's favor. Later on, therefore, he may come to believe it is safe to strike. This is what has to be averted at all costs.

The main things that need doing are the same things that were discussed during the debate on national defence at the beginning of the year. Appropriations are needed to inaugurate a maximum airborne alert of the Strategic Air Command's entire force of B-52 bombers. The airborne alert ought to begin now, and continue at full strength until the U.S. striking power in long-range guided missiles has been massively augmented.

Similarly the buildup of the long-range missiles ought to be increased in every way possible, and every dollar should be appropriated that can be used to speed the two reconnaissance satellite projects, Midas and Semos. In addition, the affair of the U-2 plainly proves the short-sightedness of the policymakers who have cut back production of the B-52-H bomber almost to zero.

Here is a bomber with the range, speed and altitude characteristics that will allow it to imitate the U-2's performance. It can go almost where it will in the skies above the Soviet Union, just as the U-2 did for so long. It is not menaced, so far as is known, by improvements in the Soviet air defence system, whereas the B-52, flying at slower speeds and at somewhat lower altitudes, may well be menaced later on.

OTTAWA:

Back Goes The Clock

By GRANT DEXTER

FOR eight years—1952-60—it has been unlawful for manufacturers, dealers or others to practise what is known as resale price maintenance.

The retail trade has been free to charge whatever price it pleased, quite regardless of the wishes of the manufacturers and the dealers.

Now all this is to be reversed by the Diefenbaker Government. An amendment to the Combines Act, awaiting second reading in the House of Commons, destroys the 1952 reform and restores to manufacturers and dealers full power to prevent the consumers from buying at less than the price decreed by them. The clock is being turned back eight years.

The beneficiaries of the Liberal policy have been consumers who have paid less than they otherwise would have done.

The origin of this ban on resale price maintenance was a Royal Commission set up by Mr. Stuart Garson, then Minister of Justice, in June, 1950. The Commission reported on Oct. 1, 1951, in favor of forbidding resale price maintenance. The government accepted this recommendation and amended the Combines Act accordingly in 1952.

False Reasoning

This was one of the hardest fought political battles in recent years. The Conservative party, with Mr. Fulton as chief opponent, fought the Bill clause by clause and at all stages. The reason the Conservatives gave for this opposition was obviously a false one. The great misfortune, which, the Conservatives argued, would befall the small retailer, never occurred.

The retail trade since 1952 has flourished. The real beneficiaries of the Conservative argument were the manufacturers and dealers who desired to be able to dictate the retail price at which their goods could be sold. And it is the manufacturers and the dealers that the Diefenbaker government is serving today by restoring to them the control of the retail prices of their goods.

The Liberal amendment of 1952 simply said (Section 34 of the Combines Act) that it was unlawful by agreement or otherwise to seek to "require or induce by threat" or any other means a retailer to sell an article at a specified price.

When the Diefenbaker Government took office in June, 1957, Mr. Fulton, the minister of justice, who is responsible for the Combines Act, first announced that he intended to look into the statute before deciding upon changes. This examination apparently continued through 1958.

In 1959 Mr. Fulton brought down an amendment. The opposition from the Liberals and from the general public was so vigorous and uncompromising that the Bill was not proceeded with.

It remains to be seen if so successful an outcome can be achieved in 1960.

Urgent Need

The need is urgent. The present Bill, so far as price maintenance is concerned, is much worse than the 1959 Bill. Had Mr. Fulton agreed to let the manufacturers and their dealers write the Bill to suit themselves, they could not have done a more thorough job of making the public interest stand aside in favor of their own.

So far as resale price maintenance goes, this Bill totally destroys the Liberal law. It binds the consumers and turns them over, powerless to defend themselves, to the manufacturers.

As has been shown, the Liberal law forbade price maintenance. Retailers were perfectly free to price goods as they pleased.

The Diefenbaker Bill proceeds to destroy this law not by forthright, easily understood repeal. The law is destroyed furtively, by means which require a little patience and study.

To begin with, the Diefenbaker government leaves the Liberal law in Section 34 of the Combines Act unchanged. But now the dirty work begins:

The Liberals forbade retail price maintenance in four separate sub-sections, each one blocking off the usual method by which retailers were intimidated by manufacturers and their dealers.

Chiefly, however, the manufacturer controlled the retailers by the threat — often carried out — of withholding merchandise from them if they reduced the retail price fixed by these manufacturers. This control the Liberals took away. It was made illegal for a manufacturer to withhold supplies.

Flimsy, Loaded

Now the Diefenbaker government adds a fifth section setting up five reasons which will justify a manufacturer withholding supplies. These are the most flimsy, loaded reasons that ever disgraced a statute.

A manufacturer or his dealer is now justified in withholding supplies if "he satisfies the court that he and anyone upon whose report he depended had reasonable cause to believe and did believe" that the price of his goods was being cut as a loss-leader (whatever that may be) or for the purpose of attracting customers; or by means of misleading advertising; or without proper allowance for post-sale servicing. And, finally, as a catch-all excuse, foolproof in court, the manufacturer need only declare that the reduced price in his view "disparaged" the value of his goods.

It is obvious at a glance that these defences completely nullify the crime. If this amendment is enacted, the retail trade will be unable to resist the price control of the manufacturers. As the language of the amendment shows, the manufacturer need not prove a thing.

All he is required to do is to enter court and swear that he had reason to believe, or that Joe Doakes had told him. Incidentally, this reliance upon the judgment of a third party is new in this year's Bill. In 1950 the manufacturer at least had to swear he himself believed these things. Also, last year, the price cutting had to be "persistent." This year, the word "persistent," significantly, is withdrawn.

Toronto Industrials Register Slim Gain

Industrials edged forward a few decimal points amid light trading today on the Toronto stock market but found no following among other sections.

Eddy Match held the lead among winning industrials with a gain of 1 1/2 at 29. On the losing side, Canadian Tire became active with a five-point drop at 180.

Electronics and other speculative favorites made gains on a mixed market at New York. Trading moderated after an active start.

AT TORONTO mines were moving lower, led by Labrador with a drop of 1 1/2 at 19 1/2. Western oils were becoming the big losers of the day, led lower by Pacific Petroleum with a drop of 40 cents at $9.55. Home Oil A and B stocks both dropped 35 cents at $8.65 and $8.05, while Hudson's Bay and Dome Petroleum edged forward.

AT NEW YORK losses prevailed with Aluminum Ltd., Canadian Pacific, Distillers, Seagrams, Dome Mines, Hudson Bay Mining and Walker-Gooderham all lower. International Nickel added 1/4.

American exchange prices were generally higher. Brazilian Traction, Canadian Marconi and Sapphire Petroleum were all down 1/4. Preston East Dome, Fargo Oil and Jupiter Oils rose.

AT MONTREAL after a hesitant start, the stock exchange went ahead today.

AT LONDON prices continued to advance on the stock market today. Steels were in demand in a buoyant industrial section.

Gilt-edged met good investment demand. Golds showed renewed firmness, coppers were quietly firm and oils were irregular.

AT VANCOUVER trading was dull with prices off during the morning. Ad Astra moved 2,000 at 5c. Bata Petrol traded 2,000 at 8c. Mid West Copper traded 1,000 at 14c. Silbak moved 1,500 at 27c.

President Carl I. Hall said the profit compares with $38,961 in the first quarter of last year.

He said lumber shipments were slightly higher than last year.

Alberia coal production in 1959 was 2,579,000 tons, an increase of 29,500 tons over the previous year.

Exports in April, however, were down 8.3 per cent from last year's $402,400,000 to $368,800,000, breaking a string of three consecutive monthly increases.

January-April shipments were up to all major market areas.

Sales to the United States, Canada's biggest customer, totalled $1,001,100,000 compared with $908,900,000 a year ago. Exports to the United Kingdom in the period amounted to $268,600,000, up from the previous year's $219,700,000.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

Winnipeg (CP) — More aggressive buying by international and export houses appeared near the close today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.	Chicago (AP) — The grain futures market mustered a steady to firm range in the early afternoon today with corn leading the advance.
The flax market started irregular in early stages but firm up at the end of trading. Improved export business accounted for a good part of the rally. India bought 750,000 bushels of hard wheat.

Accused Alderman Resigns

(From Duncan Bureau)
Duncan city council has accepted "with regret" the resignation of Ald. John Kerrone, charged with setting fire to a building and free on $1,000 bail until June 6, when he will make a plea in Duncan police court.

"He is an innocent man until proven guilty," said Mayor J. T. Dobson at a council meeting Tuesday. "He voluntarily wrote the letter of resignation."

COUNTRY-WIDE REACH FOR GOODWILL GESTURE

CHEMAMUS—As a goodwill gesture, Chemamus Rotary Club will make a donation of a hand-made table centre for the Newport, Rhode Island, Rotary Club's annual sale.

The ornament, with the local club's name inscribed on it, is being made by Mrs. C. G. Ford.

Rotarians will hold a work party to prepare the Rotary float for another summer season at Chemamus beach. The float, now anchored at the mouth of Chemamus River, will be towed to the beach early next month.

VANCOUVER ISLAND ROUNDUP

Small 'Ocean' Built For Sea Life Studies

NANAIMO—A miniature ocean, which scientists hope will give them some answers regarding food substances in ordinary sea water, soon will be under study here.

Dr. A. W. H. Needler, director of the Fisheries Research Board, Pacific Biological Station here, said a plastic bubble 20 feet in diameter will be filled with sea water and moored off shore from the station wharf in Departure Bay.

Dr. J. D. Strickland, in charge of the project, hopes to learn something about the conversion of chemical nutrients in the water into the microscopic plant forms representing the first living stage in the sea.

"We can do tests here, but sea water moves, and water examined in one test will not be the same as that wanted for the next test," Dr. Needler said. "This test will shut off a little bit of sea and provide accurate information."

NANAIMO—Richard Lundgren, 12, of East Wellington, won the Nanaimo soap box derby staged here Monday by the Rotary Club, and will represent the city at the B.C. championships at Mission, July 1.

Also competing at Mission will be Brian Thien, East Wellington, who placed second.

One great was won by Bill Jamieson, Chemamus.

CAMPBELL RIVER—John Berto, stung on the face by a wasp while working on a platform at the Balise Lumber Sales Ltd. mill here, fell to the ground Tuesday and was taken to Campbell River General Hospital for treatment.

CHEMAMUS—First aid team of Copper Canyon operation, MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., will represent Vancouver Island at the St. John Ambulance first aid finals at Cranbrook June 25.

Team members are James Gammie, captain; Thomas McAdam, Stan Dyke, Art Miller and Helge Staffanson.

Chemamus ladies' team, composed of senior high school girls Janet Thomas, Hazel Lind, Louise Plester, Lorraine Wied and Jacqueline Wied, will represent the Island in the same event.

DUNCAN—William Cooper, Chemamus, was fined $100 and $65.00 costs and had his driver's licence suspended for 60 days after pleading guilty before Magistrate A. C. Sutton in Duncan police court to a charge of impaired driving.

DUNCAN—Lawrence Thibodeau, 29, of Shawnigan Lake, pleaded guilty in Duncan police court to cashing a $15 cheque in a beer parlor under false pretences, and was fined $30.

He also was ordered to reimburse the beer parlor. A married seaman, he admitted 15 previous convictions on charges of false pretences.

DUNCAN—Funeral services were held Tuesday for Knut Helmer Boman, 64, of Youbou, well-known resident of Camp Six for 12 years, who died in King's Daughters' Hospital Friday.

He was born at Hofors, Gastrickland, Sweden, and came to this country in 1927 to live first in Saskatchewan and then for a time at Port Arthur.

A member of the International Woodworkers of America, he is survived by the widow, Elin, and one son, both in Vancouver; and two sisters who reside in Sweden.

Widow Wins Trip To Florida

(From Duncan Bureau)
A trip to Miami, Florida, was won by Mrs. Rose Richardson, Duncan widow and mother of three, at a public speaking contest in Seattle on the weekend.

Mrs. Richardson, representing B.C. and competing against entries from Idaho, Washington and Oregon, won the prepared section of the contest sponsored by the Dale Carnegie Alumni Association with her talk on "Happiness from Within."

In addition to her Florida trip, Mrs. Richardson won a handsome engraved cup.

15th Brigade Boys Fought It Over Again

Seventy-five members of the 15th Brigade, Canadian Field Artillery, fought the "Great War" over again on Saturday night, but the talk was mostly about the humor and not the tragedy of that conflict.

Most of the veterans were Victorians but there was a good representation from places as far away as San Francisco, Seattle, Penticton, Nanaimo and Salt Spring Island.

The vets gathered under the chairmanship of Gavin Mout, of Ganges, to commemorate the 44th anniversary of their departure for overseas on May 28, 1916. They stood in silence in memory of the 14 members who had died since the last reunion.

Their brigade was toasted by Archie Willis and the reply was by Bobby Ross.

Letters and telegrams were read from members in widely scattered parts of the world such as the Belgian Congo, Montreal, Los Angeles and Flint, Mich.

A letter which caused much amusement was from Judge J. B. Clearbue, now recovering here from a heart attack. It was couched in the terms of an artilleryman. Mr. Justice Locke of the Supreme Court of Canada is another member who was not able to attend.

Harbor Commission for Nanaimo; Hees Bares Split-the-Cost Plan

A bill to incorporate a harbor commission for Nanaimo has been approved by the Commons committee, passed by the Senate, and will go before the House of Commons shortly, it was announced Tuesday in Ottawa.

It was made jointly with an announcement by Transport Minister George Hees of a new split-the-cost policy for improving local harbor commission ports. There are nine in Canada, and will be 11 when those in Nanaimo and Oshawa, Ont., are created.

Sparked partly by the new St. Lawrence Seaway, the new policy is aimed at getting local harbor commissions to put up some of the cash for building freight sheds, unloading facilities, new wharves and other major projects.

How the cost is shared would depend on how much extra revenue would be earned by the new facilities and how well off financially each commission is.

LOANS

For commissions unable to provide funds themselves, Mr. Hees said the federal government stands ready to consider making loans.

Once a local harbor commission is set up, the commissions—generally three men—run the show. They administer both federal and municipal harbor facilities and collect all the revenue.

"As activity in the harbor grows, and revenues cover appreciably more than operating costs, the commission should be expected to participate in the capital and maintenance costs of works—initially in the cost of sheds and equipment on basis structures and later in wharves and other works," said Mr. Hees.

He said the commissions would participate "to an extent corresponding to prospective revenue from the proposed works and their over-all financial ability."

The new building would provide offices for private societies, including the Canadian Red Cross, Cancer Society, first aid groups, and civil defence organizations.

The council indicated it would co-operate in an appeal to the provincial government for the deed of the Canada Avenue site of the existing health centre. The city then would turn the land over to the Kinsmen Club for construction of the new building, and on completion the club would turn land and building back to the city.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats . . . actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-digesting mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats . . . for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

So when you feel sluggish, head-achy, nervous and need a laxative, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today!

Alderman Quits To Oppose Mayor

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Alderman J. Lewis Sangster, a long-time foe of Mayor Beth Wood, announced Tuesday he would resign after a third spat in city council.

Ald. Sangster, whose resignation is effective May 31, told reporters later he will oppose Mrs. Wood in the December mayoralty election.

During Tuesday's meeting Ald. Sangster, who is 68, accused Mayor Wood of violating her oath of office by seeking to have her husband Jack named as city electrician.

It was the same issue, and an argument that followed, which saw Ald. Sangster carried bodily from council chambers by police on two occasions some months ago.

VANCOUVER—Walter Harold Merrifield, 35, was committed Tuesday for trial on a charge of murder. Merrifield is charged in the death of CPR news agent Johanan Striegel, 50, whose beaten body was found Feb. 14 in a ditch beside the CPR tracks here.

METEOR SPOTTED

KAMLOOPS — A flaming meteor sped across the southern interior of British Columbia Tuesday night.

It was seen in most parts of the Okanagan and the southern Cariboo at 10:45 p.m. Lieut. Donald Derbyshire, director of the United States Air Force radar station at nearby Mount Lolo, said the meteor was travelling at a tremendous speed 65,000 feet up.

POLICE CHIEF DIES

NEW WESTMINSTER — Police Chief A. W. Kruger of nearby Port Moody died in hospital Tuesday night, hours after he staggered more than half a block after being critically wounded by a bullet.

RCMP said they are investigating the death but added they suspect no foul play.

Chief Kruger, 53, was found in the washroom of the city hall Tuesday morning after a constable followed a trail of blood from the chief's car into his apartment, out again and half a block along the street to the washroom.

The chief had been shot in the head by a small calibre bullet.

Mayor Roy Petrie said the chief suffered from diabetes several years.

FROST DAMAGE

VERNON — A frost on the night of May 22 has caused varying degrees of damage to commercial field crops in the North Okanagan, it was reported Tuesday. The department of agriculture said some injury was expected to strawberries in the Salmon Arm area. Rain last week also retarded fruit development in the orchards.

LEGION 'BLASTED'

LADNER — A gas explosion ripped open the Canadian Legion Hall here Tuesday, but two occupants escaped serious injury. Ten school children had just left a basement library.

Librarian Mrs. Reginald Green, 55, was knocked unconscious by the blast and John Schwartz, 61, was stunned.

Police said the blast occurred when Mr. Schwartz lit a cigarette while investigating Mrs. Green's report that she had smelled gas.

'Let Russians Hear Ike'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House Tuesday urged the Kremlin to let the Russian people listen to broadcasts of President Eisenhower's radio-television report this evening on collapse of the summit conference. The government's Voice of America radio plans to beam the talk around the world in English and 38 other languages, including Russian.

TORONTO (CP)—The CBC said Tuesday it will carry President Eisenhower's Report to the Nation on its national television network today at 6 p.m. MDT (5 p.m. PDT).

Spy Flight Ban Backed

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, lashing out at administration handling of the spy plane incident, declared Tuesday if elected president he would continue President Eisenhower's ban on U-2 flights over Russia.

Kennedy told a packed news conference that as chief executive he would never risk the hazard of sending a plane on a spying mission over the Soviet Union.

Pilot's Parents Going to Russia?

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (UPI)—The disappearance of the wife and father of U-2 plane pilot Francis G. Powers led to speculation today they may be making arrangements to visit the flyer in Russia.

Mrs. Barbara Gay Powers and her father-in-law, Oliver Powers, accompanied by Mrs. Powers' mother, Mrs. Monteen Brown, left here by automobile. Relatives would not reveal their destination.

EASTERN Command of the Canadian Army has announced the appointment of Capt. Max Rycroft to the Canadian Armament Design and Experimental Establishment near Quebec City. A former Victoria officer, Capt. Rycroft has been commanding officer, 1 Coast Artillery Maintenance Unit since 1957. His parents, Lt.-Col. and Mrs. J. G. Rycroft live at 45 Maquinna Road.

Wage Freeze In Alberta

EDMONTON (CP)—A reclassification report, freezing the wages of 10-20 per cent of Alberta's 10,000 civil servants and recommending increases for 25 per cent, was adopted by the cabinet Tuesday.

Pay increases will be retroactive to last October. Civil servants whose wages were frozen will continue at the same pay rate even if their job is down-graded.

Canadian manufacturers shipped 1,764,000 dozen ball-point pens and liquid pencils in 1958, one-third more than the previous year.

TIDAL WAVE TAKES TOLL

BELONGINGS were carried by woman in Hilo, Hawaii, from small waterfront hotel smashed by tidal wave. This building was one of few left standing in the area. (AP Wirephotos)

SIGHTSEEING and fishing boats deposited there by force of giant tidal wave by Chile earthquake.

HUGE CASUALTIES IN PAST

'A Tidal Wave is Born...'

NEW YORK (AP) — The earth's crust shifts like a monster drawing a deep breath. A vast section of the ocean floor rises or falls. Turbulent waters mass at the spot and then rush away. A tidal wave is born.

That's one of science's tentative explanations of the great sea wave, spawned in seismic violence off the coast of South America, which Monday struck Hawaii and later Japan, thousands of miles away.

Scientists don't know precisely what action of an undersea earthquake triggers off a tidal wave. Fortunately for coast dwellers however, its movement can be predicted with considerable accuracy.

A vast warning system has done much to cut down the loss of life. Some of the disastrous waves of other days produced enormous casualty lists.

5,000 DIED

Some tidal waves are generated by forces other than earthquakes. The great wall of water that descended on Galveston, Tex., one fall day in 1900 was sucked out of the Gulf of Mexico by a hurricane. It killed some 5,000 persons.

Others originate in a combination of forces.

The eruption of Krakatoa, a volcanic island in the East Indies, in 1883, touched off such shock waves in both earth and air that 100-foot waves washed over nearby islands and ripples from it were detected as far away as the English Channel. An estimated 36,000 died. Although tidal waves race across the open ocean with the speed of a jet plane, they are rarely noticeable until they reach shallow water near shore. There the sea bottom slows them down and the waters pile up.

'COWARDLY'

Four-Month Term Given Jealous Youth

Eighteen-year-old Kenneth Potts, 468 Kingston, was sentenced to four months in jail for assaulting Donald G. Butler, 21, of 3575 Beach, at a beach party May 14.

The accused, with a previous record for obstructing a policeman, swung a piece of beach wood at Butler's head as he lay on the sand at Telegraph Bay.

Potts then walked away, leaving others to take Butler to hospital with multiple skull and face fractures.

Police quoted Potts as saying he lost his head when his girl spoke to Butler.

'COWARDLY'

"This was a cowardly and most violent attack, without warning and justification," Magistrate William Ostler remarked.

"He might have killed this man... (then) simply turned your back on him and absented yourself from the scene."

Mr. Ostler said it would be hard to imagine a more serious assault.

NEW NIXON DELEGATES ASSURE NOMINATION

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice-President Richard M. Nixon apparently has clinched the Republican presidential nomination unless a lot of delegates to the GOP convention change their minds.

Nixon gained 26 Florida and 28 Tennessee votes Tuesday which gave him a total of 722 delegate votes definitely committed or expressing a preference for him.

He needs only 666 votes at the convention to win the nomination.

Hunter Badly Mauled In Battle With Bear

BRALORNE, B.C. (CP) — A 27-year-old man is recovering in hospital here after a wrestling match with a one-eyed grizzly bear.

Hospital authorities said German immigrant John Schmidbauer will spend about a week in hospital after being out of the fight with 60 teeth marks, 40 of them on his back. Both arms were bitten to the bone and one hand was bitten through.

Schmidbauer had gone bear-hunting alone in the mountains south of this mining community 110 miles north of Vancouver.

He told hospital officials the bear saw him first and attacked before he could get his rifle into action. Schmidbauer threw his pack at the grizzly and ran, but the bear ran faster and cuffed him face first into the snow.

Every time the hunter tried to stand up, the bear cuffed him down again. At one point, Schmidbauer grabbed the animal's nose and tried to gouge out the good eye, but he was again knocked down.

The hunter played dead and the bear backed off.

After about five minutes Schmidbauer jumped to his feet and raced for town, the bear hot on his heels.

Residents who went out next day found the animal had followed Schmidbauer for about three-quarters of the distance to Bralorne.

Bennett Rapped On Hydro Stand

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming rebuked Premier Bennett of British Columbia Tuesday for public statements concerning federal-provincial negotiations on development of the Columbia River.

He said in the Commons that it would be to the mutual advantage of the federal and British Columbia governments if an effort were made to arrive at an understanding "without rushing into the press" with political statements.

BENNETT QUOTED

Mr. Fleming was replying to Opposition Leader Pearson, who quoted the Social Credit Premier as saying that the federal Conservative government was running away from a promise attributed to External Affairs Minister Green — to pay half the Columbia River development costs.

The finance minister said that to his knowledge Mr. Green had made no such promise and the federal government was not running away from anything, positions, statements or responsibilities.

Mr. Fleming said there has been and will be ample opportunities for discussion with B.C. on Columbia development. There has been correspondence with Mr. Bennett and cost-sharing had been discussed.

Mr. Pearson also asked for comment on a statement attributed to Mr. Bennett that Mr. Fleming had not replied to the premier's invitation to discuss financial arrangements recently at Victoria.

Mr. Fleming said he received the invitation at Vancouver the night of May 16 when he was packing to leave for Winnipeg where he had a speaking engagement the next day.

He had written to Mr. Bennett suggesting a meeting when the premier returns from the United Kingdom.

FAIRER TO WAIT
It would have been "fairer" for Mr. Bennett to wait for a response instead of saying that Mr. Fleming had not

H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) asked the federal government not to run away from its responsibilities to the residents of the Arrow Lakes.

Mr. Fleming said these residents had been given "due consideration" in the discussions.

More Columbia Talks

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canadian and U.S. negotiators made some headway Tuesday as they completed their fourth round of bargaining on a Columbia River power development treaty. But informants said stumbling blocks still exist.

The negotiating teams scheduled their fifth meeting for Ottawa June 20-21.

Both sides said they were heartened by progress made so far. Sources close to them indicated, however, there is no hope of getting Columbia River dam construction started this year.

Major problems are lack of agreement on development of the East Kootenay River and Montana's Libby Dam.

Unbelievably Beautiful!

Investors May Answer B.C.'s Election Quiz

By FRANK BUTTER
Premier Bennett has arrived in Britain on his four-week "fund-raising" campaign. The premier left Victoria Sunday with three aides, spent Monday in Montreal and then flew to England. When he returns toward the end of June, Mr. Bennett may pop the answer to B.C.'s big political question—the date of the election. The theme of the premier's visit to England, plus side-trips to the financial houses of Montreal and New York, is clearly mostly a matter of money.

TRADE PITCH
He said before he left he wanted to attract trade—particularly from Britain. Travelling with Mr. Bennett are his two top financial men, Dr. J. V. Fisher, the special economic adviser and B.C. finance co-ordinator, and deputy finance minister G. S. Bryson. Also along is Dan Ekman, the premier's executive assistant. Mr. Bennett did not specify who he would be seeing abroad. He does plan some sight-seeing and social visits. But business is expected to be the theme.

It's considered likely he may see the London directors of the Wenner-Gren Interests and Peace River Power Development Co., which has an agreement with B.C. to build a railway, develop resources and construct a huge hydro scheme on the Peace River—$680-million worth altogether. However, the premier pointedly said before he left he was not going overseas to help "any one project."

'NO DEALS'
He also said there would be "no special deals" for private companies.

As one top government official put it: "We don't care what those other fellows do on the Peace." Money to help harness the Columbia River, on the other hand, might be more welcome.

But Mr. Bennett seemed more interested in the trade and commerce potential.

He wants more British industry located in B.C. and would like to see more participation by British capital in B.C. projects. Such successes as the Anacapa Island industrial "city" and the development of British Properties on Vancouver's north shore have impressed the government.

MORE STABILITY
A more-widely scattered industrial scene would place less reliance on resources, and would promote more over-all stability. There would be enough diversity to cushion the slack of any slumps.

On the way home to B.C., the premier will stop off in New York June 17 to meet more financiers. Dr. Fisher is expected to go ahead and prepare the way.

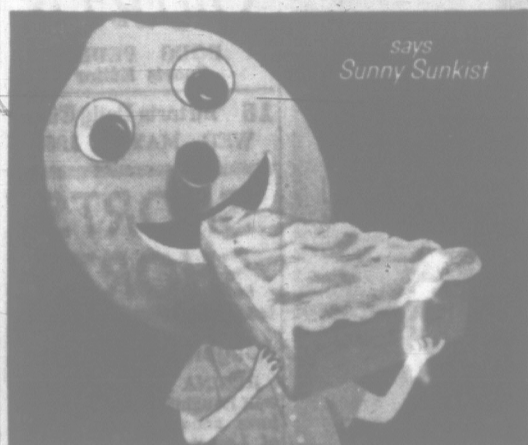

But in many ways, the premier's Montreal conference, right at the start of the trip, may prove the most important.

There, he may have learned what prospects there are of getting Canadian loan capital for either Peace or Columbia hydro projects.

For reliable sources say that such capital would be preferred—for the Columbia anyway. Not only would such an investment keep the dollars in Canada, but it would probably be a cheaper loan without any fluctuations of discount, either in sterling or U.S. exchange.

The mood of the investors may influence the mood of the premier—if he returns with high hopes from a successful tour, he may announce his government's plans, with a quick July election.

"How long since you ate a piece of fresh lemon pie?"

There's nothing in the world quite as tangy and tasty as lemon pie made with fresh Sunkist Lemons. Two hints. Don't squeeze the lemon juice until the instant you need it... and remember to add a little grated lemon rind. That's the secret of that deliciously tart-sweet flavour. No packaged pie mix can ever quite match it.

ARCHIE LOOKS READY FOR FAT MAN'S PICNIC

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Archie Moore, world light-heavyweight boxing champion who looks as though he trained for a fat man's picnic race, tonight makes his first start in nine months against Germany's Willi Besmanoff in a 10-round heavy-weight bout.

The match is a replay of a 1958 bout in which Moore scored a split decision over Besmanoff in Louisville Ky.

Moore is favored at 2½-to-1 odds even though he'll go into the ring at about 200 pounds, some 25 over the 175 limit at which he reigns.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—The fight racket lasts only because there are kids, raging and desperate in impoverished obscurity, they can't get in store or factory and they might get wealthy while multitudes of strangers call their name in joy or anger. But it may also maim them or start the Chinese music going in their heads or take them into the dawn's night of blindness.

It has been a criminal act in this country and there are people who would have it that way again. Hoodlums make it a suburb of the underworld. The reformers preach against it as an exercise in vile barbarism. The satchel men turn it into a lucrative fraud. The politicians louse it up.

But it stands them all off and keeps going because there are such people as Joe Louis connected with it. He is a sort of a defaced monument to its grandeur in the cemetery that television has made of boxing. Even his image is disfigured, like a neglected statue eroded by the elements. But the vandals have not been able to destroy what he was as a champion.

It is right that he is back in the business again, drawing wages as a skill for the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson fight. The job is a publicity gimmick and he is supposed to advise Patterson how to get away from the right hand. He can help Patterson, too, if Gus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, will allow him to talk to his pug.

Many people have used Louis. They set him up with all kinds of propositions from golf games to commercial enterprises that folded up almost as soon as he had invested in them. He fell so far behind in his taxes, he will never catch up. But he keeps scuffling and often works at jobs which embarrass him.

All Louis has left is his reputation. This he sells, a little at a time, offering shreds and tatters. He never complains and he asks for nothing. But there has never been a champion like him. It turned bad after he was through fighting, but his prestige as a pug has not diminished. He could explain to Patterson what it means to be a true champion.

Joe Was Special, Even Among Champs

There is no one close to Patterson who can define the secret that only a few men in my time have known. The original talent was there, but Louis also was a force for good. This is unique in a man whose trade is beating up other guys. It is not the sentimental view of a man who was young when Louis was. There has never been one exactly like him in the years of his greatness.

He is an uneducated man, but he spoke with a crude poetry which was founded in truth. No one ever associated him with a crooked fight. Joe Louis was beyond that. He was a special man even among champions. Number bankers owned pieces of his contract. They ran with the gambling mobs. But managing Louis appeared to purify them. I imagine they realized they couldn't handle this innocent kid. Never before had the fight racket been regarded with such esteem.

Only the act of fighting concerned Louis, and he performed it as though it were a sacred ceremony. Finances never interested him as long as he had enough to grab the cheques. He had the impulses of an amateur. That made him great, but it also gave those who lived off him the chance to bust him. He never had anyone he could trust to watch the cash register.

His stately way of fighting gave him a dignity no other pug had. In his time, he became a myth of decency. I covered most of his big fights. But I've never seen him foul a man.

I imagine Max Schmeling, who slandered him for being a coward, was the only opponent he ever despised. When the time came to go, Louis departed with grace. I went back to his dressing room after Rocky Marciano knocked him out.

"Too bad, Joe," I said.

"I knock many a guy out," Louis replied. "Rocky knock me out. I ain't sad."

What Louis could give Patterson happened the night before the last Schmeling fight. I was sitting on the porch of the old mansion where he lived during the training.

"You pick me?" he asked.

"Yes," I said. "In six rounds."

He held up the big finger of his right hand.

He knew exactly what he had to do. Louis might be able to tell Patterson how to achieve that violent, yet curiously serene, attitude. It is a mood Patterson has to create within himself if he is to beat Johansson.

Victoria Puncher Scores Quick KO

Lightweight Winnie Scheff of Vancouver, belted out Don Lafontaine of Elliot Lake, Ont., also in the first round.

Point Competition
Mrs. F. Usher, with 40 points, won the Uplands Golf Club women's point competition Tuesday. Second was Mrs. C. S. Humber with 38 points. The club's "B" championship will be held Monday.

NEW TIRES BOOST SPEED

Lee Changed Driving Tactics in 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The starting lineup won't mean a thing after a lap or so of Monday's 44th running of the Memorial Day 500-mile race, says 1951 winner Lee Wallard.

The bustling little guy from Tampa, now retired from auto racing, generally is credited with changing the entire concept of driving the 500.

With the smallest car in the field, he raced everybody who challenged him anywhere on the two-and-a-half-mile track—including the corners. There had been a theory that the way to win was to figure what speed it would take and hold to it, ignoring everybody else. Nobody operates that way now.

Wallard sees about three separate races going on simultaneously early in Monday's noisy scramble.

"There'll be quite a scrap up front among Eddie Sachs, Jim Rathmann, Rodger Ward, Dick Rathmann and Troy Ruttman," Wallard predicts.

"Back in the middle, drivers like Jimmy Bryan, Johnny Thomson and Tony Bettenhausen are going to be fighting to improve their positions.

"And in the last four rows, men like Jim Hurtubise and Paul Goldsmith aren't going to be satisfied to see all that traffic in front of them."

Hurtubise is the sensational rookie from Lennox, Calif., who set new qualifying records over 149 miles an hour on a track where nobody had reached 147 this year.

"No question about it, that Hurtubise will go," Wallard says.

Wallard takes a special interest in Bryan, the 1958 winner, and his new metal Cal special because it is undersized like Wallard's famous Belanger 99. Bryan's car was built by George Salih, Whitaker, Calif., who designed the unique flat-engine Belong special in which Sam Hanks and Bryan won the race in successive years. Salih also was the idea man on the Belanger.

"Bryan just may be the one

PIT STOPS MAY DECIDE CLASSIC

to beat," Wallard guesses. "Unquestionably he's great."

Wallard expects the race to be run at tremendous speeds due to the combination of eager drivers, fast machines and a new tire that gives a better grip on the track.

The high speed will be rough on tires, especially an edge that are not handled deftly or do not have good weight distribution.

Wallard got such good tire wear with his light car in 1951 that he made only one pit stop.

Most drivers and crews this year are figuring on three or four.

If any of the top drivers who can gain an advantage of one pit stop, he is pretty likely to win the race.

Ward made three beautifully efficient pit stops in a total of one minute and 13 seconds last year. In spite of wrecks that kept the caution lights on a total of 43 minutes and 17 seconds, he set a record of 135,857 miles an hour. Wallard won at 126,244.

'Headache' Is Hurting Rivals

By United Press International

The kid from class B, Paul Richards said his "spring headache" is giving the Baltimore Orioles rivals a king-sized hangover.

He's Steve Barber—a 21-year-old left-handed coach Harry Brecheen says "can throw a strawberry through a locomotive"—and right now he looks like the rookie find of a lifetime.

Only three weeks ago Richards had Barber ticketed for the minors, but Tuesday night he pitched the Orioles into a half-game lead in the American League with a 6-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The six-foot, 190-pounder now owns a 4-1 record and a glittering 1.66 earned run average—not bad for a kid who was 7-11 at Pensacola of the Alabama-Florida League in 1959.

This is the first time the Orioles have been in first place at this stage of the season since they switched to Baltimore and it appears it's time for the "big boys" to start taking them seriously. Richards himself insists it's already "later than they think" and that the young Orioles already have come of age.

INDIANS CLIMB

Cleveland Indians beat Washington Senators, 7-2, and moved past the White Sox into second place, Detroit Tigers whitewashed New York Yankees, 4-0, and Kansas City Athletics dealt Boston Red Sox their 10th straight loss, 6-2, in other American League games.

San Francisco Giants reclaimed first place in the National League by eight percentage points when they defeated Philadelphia Phillies, 4-0, and Los Angeles Dodgers beat Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-2.

Milwaukee at St. Louis and San Jones finally turned in a top-notch road performance when he pitched a walkless game for the Giants. Willie Mays doubled home the Giants' first run and singled their second in scoring position before they added their final runs in the eighth on a bunt single and four walks and two wild pitches by Jim Owens.

The Phillies haven't scored a run off San Francisco pitching in 29½ consecutive innings and Jones has shut them out twice this season.

Gil Hodges' "wo-run homer and Johnny Podres' eight-hitter combined to dump the Pirates into second place.

But what about the opposing pitcher?

SCORE FOLDS

Herb Score matched Barber's zeroes for three innings but then fell completely apart as the Orioles scored five runs on three walks and five hits in the fourth. Barber mowed 'em down thereafter as he struck out five and walked two. The Orioles, meanwhile, wound up with a total of 13 walks to go with their seven hits.

Don Mossi, who beat the Yankees six times last season, pitched a four-hitter as the Tigers scored their ninth win in 13 games and moved to within a game of fourth-place New York. Charley Maxwell, filling in for Rocky Colavito, hit his second homer in two games with two aboard in the fifth inning to pave the way for rookie Bill Short's third defeat.

Colwood Golf Club shot-makers, last year's interclub champions, today found themselves in third place after the first round of the annual match-play tournament.

The Langford golfers gathered only 3 1/2 of a possible nine points against Victoria Golf Club swingers Tuesday at the Oak-Bay links.

In the other match, Uplands Golf Club team took advantage of playing over its home course to score a 6 1/2-2 1/2 win over Gorge Vale.

Last year's champs will take on the new leaders on Monday at Colwood, while Victoria will play at Gorge Vale.

Bert's Boys on Beam As Jokers Clipped 8-5

Bert Bertola's Island Tug team came up with crisp attack and a well-balanced attack Tuesday night to defeat Jokers 8-5 in a Senior "B" Lacrosse League offering at Stevenson Park.

Fred Doig, Keith Lawrence and Reg Foster each fired two goals for Tugmen, who led 3-2 at the half. Single tallies for the winners were scored by Art Pike and George Wilson.

Will Scott, with three goals, and ex-Nanaimo forward Ross Roskamp, with two and an assist, handled scoring for Jokers. Veteran Art Green Sr. chipped in with three assists.

The shots on goal proved a good indication of play. Stan Bell made 10 stops for Tugmen and veteran Chummy Crabbe blocked 24 for the Len Scott-coached Jokers.

Jokers make their next start Thursday at 6:30 against the Junior Shamrocks.

Grapple Ring Will Receive 'Battle' Test

Professional wrestling activity shifts to Victoria Curling Club Friday night and promoter Leo Wallick won't be wasting any time in giving the ring at the new grapple site a real workout.

Scheduled for the first program in the curling rink is a "battle royal" involving seven heavyweights, or something like 1,500 pounds of beef.

Billed for the melee are Antonio "Ripper" Leone, Kit Fox, Eric Froelich, Tarzan Potvin, Dick Hutton, Dan McDonald and Bud Rattall.

The idea of a "battle royal" is that all seven start in the ring and it's every man for himself.

The first grapple planned is through for the evening. The second and third to touch canvas with both shoulders for the required length of time meet later in a preliminary bout. The third and fourth men out clash in the semi-final and the last two tusslers on their feet will come back for the main event.

Former Champ Upset By Oklahoma Airman

PORTRUSH, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Ralph Morrow, an unheralded American serviceman from Oklahoma City, Okla., upset former champion Reid Jack of Scotland, 5 and 4, today to reach the fourth round of the British Amateur golf championship.

Only one other U.S. player

—Bob Cochran of St. Louis, Mo.—survived the third round as four Yanks, including highly-touted Tim Holland of Rockville Centre, N.Y., suffered ignominious defeats on the rain-swept Royal Portrush course.

Cochran joined Morrow in this afternoon's fourth round with an easy 5-and-4 triumph over B. R. Pitchford of England.

Holland, a semi-finalist in the 1958 tournament, three-putted the 19th hole to drop a 1-up decision to England's Brian Chapman, a former Cambridge University golfer who has never won even a club championship.

I'm going to describe the swing for a long-iron shot in terms of the way it should feel. Solid as a rock at address. Tense, but only to the point of being alert. The feet suggest that they are balancing more weight than usual, flexed knees being responsible.

The first faint hint of a beginning of a controlled turn. Solid weight displacement to the right foot and leg comes. When more than half of the backswing is completed. You feel the discipline of productive tension, particularly through the inside of the right leg and the back.

The feeling at the completion of the backswing is one of sharp weight on the inside of the left foot and surprisingly little on the right. The full pivot eases the burden of the right leg and foot.

Feel that the initial move down is straight toward the line of flight. The knees are preparing to transfer the weight, and absorb the power of impact, when club and hands and arms are almost welded in their unity. The feeling at the beginning of the follow-through is that the body has "resisted" the club in its attempt to take the body past the point of address, or haul it to the left.

The feeling at the finish of the swing is that you are "growing" up into the follow-through.

The arms are straining to keep the clubhead from pulling the body off balance.

NEXT: The short irons.

Rutledge Fans 17; Hurls One-Hitter

The strikeout was king in the Evening Optimist Babe Ruth League Tuesday as Bapcos beat Brotherhood of Painters, 12-1.

Cliff Rutledge whiffed 17 of a possible 21 batters as he pitched Bapcos out of the league cellar by beating the first-place Painters. He yielded only one hit and two walks.

In Hampton Little League baseball, however, they were batting high, wide and handsome to completely frustrate four pitchers.

Hawks and Owls banged out 13 and 15 hits, respectively, but didn't decide anything because the game ended in a 15-15 tie. Further complicating matters were a total of 12 errors, eight by the Hawks.

SETTLE FOR DRAW

Time Runs Out On Springboks

LONDON (Reuters)—Set to score 197 runs in 170 minutes to beat MCC, the South African cricketers Tuesday could not keep up with the clock against some excellent bowling and the match ended in a draw.

The Springboks' first innings ended with the second ball of the day, Griffin being bowled by Higgs without addition to the overnight score of 149 for nine. This gave MCC, who scored 206 in the first innings, a lead of 59 runs.

In their second innings, they went for runs regardless of the cost in wickets and knocked up 137 for nine before Colin Cowdrey declared.

South Africa lost wickets quickly after being 35 without loss at tea, and had to defend dourly in the closing stages to finish with 126 for seven and save the game.

At Portsmouth, Yorkshire 200, Hampshire 183 and 147. Yorkshire won by an innings and 61 runs. Yorkshire 14 points.

At Oxford, Middlesex 200 and 148 for 1 declared; Oxford University 134 and 103. Middlesex won by 100 runs.

At Nottingham, Nottinghamshire 227 and 107; Essex 220 and 120 for 5 Essex won by five wickets. Essex 14 points.

TRUCK DRIVER'S FAMILY IN FAIR'S DREAM HOME

First Sleep in a House They Can Call Their Own

By JOHN MIKA
Mr. and Mrs. Donald McIntosh and their two children slept in a house of their own for the first time Tuesday night.

And it was the first proper sleep they have had since last Friday night.

Reason: the 44-year-old truck driver for the city won the $35,000 value dream home when Miss Victoria Saturday picked one of the two tickets he bought at the Junior Chamber of Commerce annual fair.

"We just couldn't get any sleep over the weekend. The phone was ringing constantly and we were just so excited thinking about last night when we got the key and signed the papers," said Mrs. McIntosh today.

MONTÉ ROBERTS

Believe it or not, I went all the way to Vancouver, travelling in Her Majesty's Canadian ships, at that, to bring this back:

A gentleman in the United States government service was given an assignment in Canada, and accordingly moved his family to this country.

Among his family was a small boy we shall call Johnny, because all small boys in anecdotes are called Johnny.

Johnny, of course, was sent to school, and his new teacher wanted to find out how much he knew.

"Johnny," she said, "can you count?"

"Yes, ma'am," said Johnny.

"Johnny," said teacher, "can you count from one to ten?"

"Yes, ma'am," said Johnny.

"Then supposing you count from one to ten," said teacher.

"Yes, ma'am," said Johnny. "One, uh, two."

"Go on," said teacher.

"Two, uh, three," said Johnny.

"What comes after three?" asked teacher.

"Um, er, three, uh, four," said Johnny.

"Hurry up," said teacher.

"Er, four, um, five, uh, six," said Johnny.

"That's better," encouraged the teacher. "Go on, Johnny."

"Five, uh, six, seven, er, eight," stumbled Johnny.

"You're nearly there," praised teacher.

"Seven, eight, nine, ten," said Johnny, triumphantly.

"Very good," said teacher, "now, can you count backwards, from ten to one?"

"Yes, MA'AM!" cried Johnny.

"Go ahead, then," said teacher.

"Ten nine eight seven six five four three two one ah shucks," Johnny rattled off.

"My goodness," cried the teacher, "Wherever did you learn that?"

"My daddy used to work at Cape Canaveral," explained Johnny.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Steven C. Joyce, 2570 Blackwood, a food plan salesman, was fined $25 and $25 licence fee when he appeared in Saanich police court Tuesday for soliciting without a trade licence.

Craigflower Manor House, one of Victoria's most historic sites at 110 Island Highway, will be open to the public from Wednesday, June 1. It dates back to 1853 and contains many of the furnishings and implements used by the McKenzie family 107 years ago.

Victoria Rotary Boys' Choir will present a concert under the direction of William Hastings in St. Luke's Church Hall, Cedar Hill Cross Road, Friday at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Colin Handscomb, exchange teachers from Britain, will speak on refugee problems at the annual meeting of the Adoption Committee for Displaced Persons in the Douglas-Building cafeteria tonight at 8. Their talk will be illustrated with a film.

A smorgasbord at the Net Loft will start the monthly meeting of the Vancouver Island Association of Nurserymen at 6:30 on Thursday.

Two films, "World Gardens" and "Gardens of England," will be shown as part of the evening program.

All five polio patients admitted this year to Jubilee Hospital are improved and out of respirators, the hospital reported today.

Freeman King, president of Victoria Natural History Society, will address a meeting of the B.C. Government Retired Employees' Association in the Moose Hall Thursday, June 2 at 3 p.m.

Three Victoria members of the Engineering Institute of Canada are attending the 74th annual meeting at Winnipeg today, Thursday and Friday. Commodore John Deane, commodore superintendent of HMC Dockyard, is representing the engineering branch of the RCN, and Cmdr. P. F. Fairfull, manager of the government graving dock, is representing the Vancouver Island branch of the institute. Russell E. Potter, consulting engineer, will present a paper on the Moran dam and the Fraser River.

Within 10 days the house will be moved and set up on a lot in a new subdivision on Douglas near Quadra, landscaped and hooked up to all utilities. And none of it — furnished house, moving cost, lot and landscaping — will have cost Mr. McIntosh a cent more than the price of the tickets he bought last week.

"At first I couldn't believe it when we won it," said Mrs. McIntosh. "I didn't think it was possible."

HONEYMOON TOAST

"I've been making honeymoon (burned) toast ever since, I'm so excited."

"We've never owned a house before. We've rented the place we are in now (1271 Denman) for 10 years but we were thinking of moving out after this summer."

Mrs. McIntosh caught only a glimpse of the kitchen when she and her husband joined a crowd Saturday afternoon for a tour of the house.

"We had to go through so fast because of the crowd that I only saw the kitchen. I said, 'Wouldn't I love to have that kitchen.' I didn't know that I was going to get it."

CHILDREN CRIED

The children, Donald Jr., 11, and daughter, Robyn, 8, were excited too but in a reverse manner at first.

"They cried because they didn't want to move away and lose all their friends at George Jay School. But they felt better when we told them they could finish out the term and have the whole summer to make new friends," said Mrs. McIntosh.

Now busy packing the family possessions for the move to the new home, Mrs. McIntosh said she plans to take time out to give her personal thanks to Sherrin Molyard who picked the winning ticket as Miss Victoria.

"And I'd like to thank all the other people who bought tickets because that's what made this possible for us."

Mr. McIntosh has bought tickets on the dream house each year in the past.

Another excited Victorian Saturday night was G. A. Gibson, a soldier stationed at West Point, who won the 1960 car put up as a door prize at the fair.

Ucluelet Woman Still in Coma After 12½ Weeks

Condition of a Ucluelet woman, in hospital in a coma 12½ weeks, since she was hurt in a two-car crash that killed her husband, remains unchanged, Royal Jubilee Hospital said today.

Mrs. Elspeth Norton was brought here after the wreck near Ucluelet on the West Coast Road in February. Her husband Paul and another man were killed in the wreckage and Mrs. Norton received broken legs and head injuries. Seven-year-old Robin Jones, of Nanaimo, who was transferred to Jubilee Hospital with similar injuries after an accident in March, has come out of his coma after 10 weeks. He also has a broken leg which is healing, the hospital said.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Adolphus Prince, 33 Obed, $40 and licence suspension for careless driving. Warren Henry Nettles, 1315 Fernwood, $10 for driving with inadequate hand brake.

SUDDENLY, it's a second honeymoon for Mr. and Mrs. Donald McIntosh what with her burning toast in excitement and him carrying her across the threshold of the home they won at the Jaycee fair.

Drifting Logs Menacing B.C. Sea Lanes

Mariners were warned today to be on the lookout for drifting logs in B.C. waters, the result of tidal surges which broke up booms in various coastal areas Monday.

The surges were caused by the Chilean earthquake and tidal wave.

The marine agent at Victoria today notified all shipping that drifting logs are reported at various parts of the B.C. coast, and are considered menaces to navigation.

$40,000 DAMAGE

Possibly the most dangerous area is around Winter Harbor near the northwest tip of Vancouver Island, where the tide surges damaged a dock and wrecked a booming ground holding 2,000,000 feet of logs.

Officials of the W. G. Moore logging company said damage amounted to $40,000, and the operation will be shut down for a month while the logs are recovered.

Logs were also reported drifting in Quatsino Sound, just south of Winter Harbor, and in the Ucluelet area.

In the Howe Sound area, east of Bowen Island, a 10-pile dolphin was torn loose from the tides and is reported as a navigation hazard.

EIGHT WAVES

The tide gauge at Tofino registered eight small tidal waves Monday ranging from three to four feet.

One of the drifting log booms at Ucluelet cut the water supply line from Port Albion during Monday's tide surge. Exact extent of damage is not yet known, and there is adequate water on hand to last until repairs are made.

A 30-foot cabin cruiser which was holed and sunk by a drifting log in the Gorge Monday was hauled out high and dry at low tide today.

Repairs were being made to the hull so the craft, owned by J. W. Fairall, 508 Springfield, could be refloated at high tide late today.

Rites Thursday For Decorated Nursing Sister

Funeral services will be held at Sands Thursday at 3 p.m. for Mrs. Elsie Mabel Corrigan of Sooke, who died in hospital here Monday.

Born in Somerset, England, she trained at Guy's Hospital in London, and served in the First World War as a nursing sister and matron. She was decorated by King George V for her services.

After the war she travelled in Australia, New Zealand, and the United States before coming to Canada. She was at Royton before coming to Victoria, where she lived for four years before making a recent move to Sooke.

IT'S $175 IN PENNIES BETWEEN TWO SCHOOLS

The distance from the front entrance of Lansdowne Junior High School to the front entrance of the University of Victoria measures $175.

And that's how much the high school students have decided to raise to help out the university building fund, now nearing the $1,800,000 mark.

The goal was set when Grade 8 students calculated it would take 17,500 pennies, laid side by side, to cover the 1,050 feet between the main entrances of the two schools located 1500 yards from each other at Lansdowne and Richmond.

Boy's Drowning Ruled Accidental

The five-year-old son of a naval officer who fell into the sea near home Tuesday night drowned accidentally, Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, said today after an informal inquiry.

Esquimalt police said John Parrish, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Parrish, 429 Campbell, was playing on the rocks with a six-year-old companion at the foot of the block-long street in HMC Dockyard married quarters.

Anthony Fell, the older boy, was on his way home to report the accident when he encountered Mr. Parrish, who had been looking for his son for about 10 minutes.

The officer ran to the shore, found his boy floating face-down in choppy water three to five feet deep, and jumped in to rescue the child.

He applied mouth-to-mouth respiration as Mrs. Shirley Houslak, 401 Campbell, called police.

12-FOOT TOTEM

Mungo Carves Memorial To Lost Son

Chief Mungo Martin is carving a memorial to his son.

The 12-foot totem pole is now being carved by the chief in his Thunderbird Park shop here. It will be erected May 28 at a ceremony in Courtenay.

Mungo's son, David, who was following his famous father's art, was drowned last year. He worked on many of the Martin totems, including the world's tallest, which stands in Beacon Hill Park, and the centennial gift to Queen Elizabeth.

The totem will be set in a stone monument. Its design features crests of the Martin family.

The chief is to start work on another project — a new totem for Thunderbird Park.

It is to be a copy of a totem at Sitka, Alaska, on the Upper Skeena which was made famous in an Emily Carr painting of 1913, Mother and Child.

Bonus Ban Ordered On June 15

The B.C. government is banning trading stamps and bonus cards effective June 15.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today the government is putting into effect the Trading Stamp Act it held "poised" after its approval at the last session of the legislature.

It has been proclaimed in effect June 15.

Mr. Bonner said the move was to forestall spread of the bonus card type of super-market promotion now used in Shop-Easy stores.

It follows failure of the City of Vancouver to win a conviction against Shop-Easy in the courts under the Criminal Code.

"We have reason to believe," said Mr. Bonner, "that this game and a similar one are likely to become widespread in the province."

URGENT COMPLAINTS

He said the government had received "most urgent" complaints from B.C. retailers about such promotions.

"The government has come to the conclusion it must enact the legislation."

At the time the act came before the legislature it was held in abeyance because there were no schemes operating in B.C. except the bonus game.

Mr. Bonner said today he did not want to see supermarkets develop into "gambling casinos."

The new act will cover all trading stamp-type promotions.

It refers to "any form of cash receipt, coupon, premium ticket or other device" given to customers to represent a premium or special discount.

Bonus cards are for cash prizes determined by a number sealed inside a card given to a customer and opened when he has bought $100 worth of groceries.

The new act, recommended by a special legislative committee, is complementary to the Criminal Code, said Mr. Bonner.

It makes it an offence to distribute stamps to merchants.

Cooler Heads Got 'Woodsmen' To Spare Pole

Curious onlookers were denied a rare treat today as an axe-swinging motorist attacked an unyielding ex-giant of the forest, but was restrained from felling it — a Quadra Street power pole.

Spectators outside a used car lot noticed an ancient auto hook its rear bumper on a curbside pole and stop in its tracks.

A burly individual got out, surveyed the situation, reached in the trunk and produced a double-bitted feller's axe.

Under the gaze of a growing crowd he began chopping at the pole, but was finally persuaded to manoeuvre the car and bumper away from the timber instead.

Advance Tax Payments Lag in City

City comptroller Dennis Young has his fingers crossed that tax collections will pick up early next month when some 20,000 notices go out to Victoria ratepayers.

Up to the middle of this month, advance tax payments have totalled $770,000 — down slightly more than 2 per cent from last year.

The city faces "an alarming trend" if the 2 per cent isn't picked up before the year is out.

"It could reduce our revenue to a point where we would have to curtail expenditures," said Mr. Young. "Two per cent of our current tax levy for 1960 amounts to about $100,000 which is more than one mill."

Mr. Young added that the 2 per cent lag in payments so far this year is in addition to a 1½ per cent lag in 1959 when only 98.7 per cent of the tax levy was collected by year's end.

CONFIDENT

"Last year's collection was affected by a specialized unemployment situation which has largely been overcome this year," said Mr. Young. "So I'm confident that when the tax bills go out the collection rate will pick up."

"But we can't say yet whether or not the trend will continue and we're watching the situation very closely."

Due date for the taxes is Oct. 1 but many persons have taken advantage of discounts to pay on account.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Where were the scenes taken on the two-dollar bill and the five-dollar bill? M.P.

A. There are no specific scenes on Canada's paper currency. Artists were commissioned to create "typical" Canadian scenes; the scene on the five-dollar bill is typical of B.C. foothill country, that on the two of eastern Manitoba or western Ontario, but neither depicts a specific place.

Q. Would you please tell me if I will be entitled to old age pension after 10 years' residence in Canada, and 70 years of age, even though I receive small amount of social security through the U.S.

A. There is no means test in connection with the old age pension, so you will be entitled to receive the Canadian pension.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

Cut Down Oven Cleaning With Protective Spray

By PENNY SAVER

Cleaning the oven is a job no housewife really likes. Use of an oven protector I saw today will certainly cut this disagreeable chore to the bone! Protector comes in a six-ounce can, complete with nozzle for easy spraying, and sells at $1.39. It's transparent and completely odorless and will stand several washings before it's necessary to re-coat.

Before using you should clean inner surfaces of oven, including racks, with really fine steel wool and scouring powder. Then, spray on a thin coat of protector. It's also good for wells of burners on top of stove.

This smooth, durable coating will prevent charred food or grease sticking and staining. Just a quick wipe with a damp cloth will keep your oven clean and fresh.

You'll never need to be without a flashlight, even if you're carrying the slimmest of handbags. If you carry one of the good looking penlights I've seen in one downtown store. Tops of these are in chrome while bottoms come in colors that range from yellow, green, blue, pink, red, black to solid chrome.

Penlights are priced at $1.19 without batteries and batteries are readily available at 20 cents. You'll need two for each flashlight. These would be useful to slip into a pocket or handbag or keep on a night table in case of emergencies.

Have you ever wished you had something in the house to mend a leaking pot or pan?

A life saver at 30 cents for a tube containing about 1 1/4 ounces. You need no heat to apply this and it is completely waterproof. It's fast drying and will mend most metals.

Whether it's a leaking car radiator or a metal cast-iron that's on the casualty list you'll find solder a real friend in need. It's also useful for heating or water pipes, fishing lures or for use on copper, tin, glass or marble.

For information on any of these items give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

Volunteer Workers Come From Every Walk in Life

TORONTO (CP)—The time when volunteer workers came only from the leisure class has passed, says Gwen E. Richardson of the Central Volunteer Bureau of Metropolitan Toronto's social planning committee.

Today volunteers come from every walk of life and span a greater age group than formerly. Most of the more than 2,000 volunteers who pass through her office each year are women between 25 and 55 but there are also many university students, teen-age girls, men and boys.

Strange Courtship in a Russian Prison

This is the true story of Harry and Maya. Jailed for years after World War II, this Austrian couple who had never met face to face, found that their love proved stronger than stone walls, inhuman guards and harsh reprisals. Read about their courage and triumph in this week's big Star Weekly.

Bouquet Trend Changing; Brides Want Originality

OTTAWA (CP)—Today's saying in a new different bouquet. Ottawa brides are getting "new look" bouquets.

Long-stemmed red roses formerly led in popularity. Now bridal bouquets run the gamut from geraniums to orchids, predominantly white.

Ottawa florist Sam Low, who has been preparing bridal bouquets for 30 years, says brides today want "something different" along with "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue." The difference is often in the bouquet.

Some brides incorporate the four requirements of the old.

A Cucumber Beauty Mask?

LONDON (AP)—A Soviet beauty expert has come out with advice for Western women who want to stay lovely-plaster fruit on your face.

The unidentified beautician broadcasting over Moscow radio, said there is a misconception in the West that Soviet women are against cosmetics.

"Masks made from berries, fruit and vegetables are very useful and are always on hand," she said. "A vitamin mask is made of fresh cucumbers, tomatoes, raspberries, strawberries and in the winter from oranges and lemons."

She went on to explain that the juice of the fruit is mixed with water and applied to the face.

"Sometimes slices of cucumber or tomatoes are put directly on to the skin. These masks can be used every day. Now just try, and see the wonderful effect."

Gorgeous 'Hunk of Man' Who Goes To Altar Reverts to Type Later On

NEW YORK (AP)—Note to June brides: Here's a thumbnail sketch of the changes you may expect in your bridegroom, after the wedding.

You fell in love with a gorgeous hunk of man, no doubt. What appealed to you was not only his innate charm, but also his handsome appearance. You were proud of him when you walked down the street together—his look of glowing health, his air of good grooming, his immaculate linen and his well-pressed suit.

Well, get set for a shock. Even before the honeymoon is over you may wake up some morning to behold a bristly, shaggy creature yawning and scratching as he pulls on a pair of dirty dungarees and a torn T-shirt, saying: "Gosh, it's great not to have to dress up any more. What say we go fishing, baby?"

SHOCKING REVELATION Could this be your prince charming, now bright in shining armor?

It could be and it is, says Bill Doniger of New York, an authority who has spent most of his adult life in research on the habits, character and protective coloration of the human male.

With his brother, Harry, Bill runs one of the world's largest men's sportswear firms, and in the course of business studies the manners and appearance of men throughout the world.

"Little boys are born with a fondness for good, honest dirt," he says. "They hate to wash their ears, and prefer their clothes well muddled-up."

"This continues until the age of 15, when the boy suddenly discovers girls. Overnight a miracle happens. He starts taking showers without having to be bound and gagged, he experiments with his dad's razor, he puts goo on his hair and acquires a stock of sweet-smelling toiletries."

"Now this guy keeps getting neater and neater until he gets married. After that he reverts to his basic nature and gets sloppier and sloppier for about 10 or 15 years. His wife starts producing babies and they move to the country, where she joins him in the 'let's be casual' movement.

"She wears blue jeans and his old shirts. He wears anything he can haul out of the attic."

"Then in his middle-30s the guy suddenly takes a look at himself and screams: 'He also takes a look at his wife and matters to himself: 'Where did she come from?' At this point he neatens up again, and probably starts going out with his secretary or some old flame. If the wife is smart she neatens up too and gets him back, and they all live happily ever after."

That's what you can expect, says Bill. So, dear brides, be prepared.

'Forget Self'—The Initial Need Of Any Aspiring Young Actress

By JUDY NICHOLSON

Self discipline is one of the main attributes needed if an actress wants to get ahead. "You must be so well disciplined you can completely forget yourself and really live and breathe the character you are portraying," says Miss Maureen Fitzgerald, well-known young Canadian actress who is on holiday in Victoria.

She is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fitzgerald, on Denison Road.

"I live such a hectic existence that it's a change and a treat to return to Victoria," she smiles.

Miss Fitzgerald's headquarters for the past four years have been in Toronto.

"It has been terribly exciting," she says in her deep, soft voice, "I feel I've got in on the ground floor in television and films. They are still in the growing stage in Canada, you know."

She has been cast in a number of 90-minute television plays for Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and she feels that TV is a real challenge for an actress. "On legitimate stage, the actress can feel the reaction of her audience, but TV she is completely alone, not knowing the response of those watching her."

She has appeared in several National Film Board topics of the groom-elect. Gifts were in a decorated laundry basket and were presented to the bride-elect and to the mother of the groom-elect. Miss Fitzgerald, invited guests were Mrs. R. Clement, Mrs. R. Crocker, Mrs. C. Douglas, Mrs. R. Douglas, Mrs. A. Ferguson, Mrs. A. Hamilton, Mrs. M. Hamilton, Mrs. A. Pugh, Mrs. C. Sluggitt, Misses Anne Knott, Pat Knott, Daphne Sluggitt, Judy Sluggitt and Leslie Sluggitt.

Maureen Fitzgerald started her chosen career in dramatics in Montreal and continued it in England with repertory theatre and touring companies. Her acting has taken her to Australia and New Zealand and in the past two years to the United States. "Last summer I was in one of the Canadian Players touring companies that went to the deep south," she says.

As a young actress climbing the ladder of success, Maureen Fitzgerald gives some tips to other aspiring young actresses. "Be prepared to develop nerves of steel," she says, "you'll need them in this business."

One-time actress with St. Luke's Players in Victoria, Miss Maureen Fitzgerald is now making a name for herself in Canadian drama.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You Can Have Fun in the Sun and Still Not Burn

Yesterday I wrote about the effect of direct sunlight on the complexion and suggested that after early youth a woman must decide whether she is going to keep her skin as youthful looking as possible or give it a reasonable amount of care and then enjoy herself under the summer sun.

First, let's get one thing straight. So far as health is concerned you will get all of the vitamin D you can possibly need from reflected sunshine. In other words you can sit on a covered porch or in the shade of a tree and fulfill the need for vitamin D without having to roast yourself.

There is no doubt about it, the skin ages more rapidly when it is exposed periodically and at some length to the direct rays of the summer sun! This decreases its natural oils and often produces brown spots.

But, who wants to give up outdoor life during the summer? So, if your complexion does not respond well to the direct rays why not swim or golf early in the morning or in the late afternoon? Why not wear a hat with a pro-fective, wide brim whenever feasible?

Why not take advantage of one of the wonderful screening creams or lotions now available? Why not wear long sleeves when gardening? Why not be especially faithful about skin lubrication? This will make up for some of the drying out the sun gives you. Such measures will be beneficial. They will allow you to enjoy the outdoors without too great a penalty.

You can still enjoy your golf game and avoid the sun's direct rays by playing in the morning or late afternoon.

Live With Colors You Like

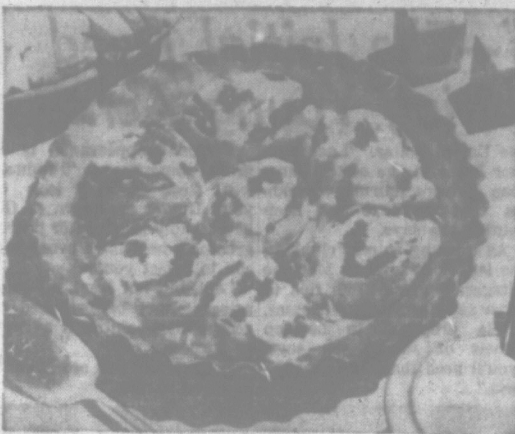

CALGARY (CP). — Living with colors you don't like can make you ill, says Mrs. Dorothy Muir, past president of the Interior Designers Institute of Alberta.

"People should live with colors they like."

One of 15 members of the Institute, Mrs. Muir said in an interview the climate of a particular area should be considered in choosing the color for houses and their furnishings.

Warmer colors were preferable in cold climates and bright shades should be used for outside paint in areas where there is plenty of sunshine which tends to make pale colors fade.

Color is also important in the business world, she said. For instance, pale pink is often used in doctors' examining rooms because it best reflects the patient's true skin color.

It looks as if it took hours to prepare—but not! It's simple and easy—and the family will be delighted with it.

New Season Bursts Forth; Time to Spark Appetites

With the warmer weather here, appetites are ready for a change! Surprise your family with a new season treat—chicken pinwheels. They are really love the tender rolls of biscuit dough filled with chicken and sauced with smooth golden chicken gravy. It can be added to your list of simple and quick to prepare recipes. Here's a perfect meal for a perfect time of year!

CHICKEN PINWHEELS

One tablespoon minced onion, one small clove garlic, minced; one tablespoon butter or margarine, one can (10½) fluid ounces chicken gravy; one cup finely chopped cooked chicken, dash of salt, dash of pepper, one cup packaged biscuit mix, one-third cup of milk, one tablespoon minced parsley.

In skillet, lightly brown onion and garlic in butter. Move from heat and stir in two tablespoons gravy, chicken and seasonings. In bowl, blend biscuit mix, milk and parsley to form of soft dough; roll out on a lightly floured board to form a rectangle about one-eighth inch thick. Spread chicken mixture on dough; roll as for a jelly roll; cut into six slices. Place slices, cut side down on a lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Meanwhile, in saucepan, heat remaining gravy; serve over pinwheels. Makes three generous servings.

Victoria Interest in Vancouver Wedding

Several Vancouver Island residents travelled to Vancouver to attend the recent wedding of Suellen Sackett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Sackett of Vancouver, to Dr. William Alan Hamilton Dodd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Dodd of Langley.

Among those who attended the ceremony in University Hill United Church were Mr. and Mrs. C. Johnston of Victoria, B. Abbott, Port Alberni; Mrs. M. Mayhew and Mr. and Mrs. T. Henderson of Qualicum Beach and Mr. and Mrs. W. Wendy, Mrs. K. Jacklin, Mr. and Mrs. L. Good, and Mr. and Mrs. K. Blaser, all of Nanaimo. The bride's family lived in Swift Current, Sask., for many years.

The bride wore a gown of imported peau de sole and Guipure lace, styled on princess lines, which was fashioned with portrait neckline and jilly point sleeves. Lace and seed pearl appliques covered the entire bodice. The fully crinolined skirt extended from a fitted waistline to a chapel train. She carried a bouquet of miniature calla lilies. Mr. Sackett gave his daughter in marriage.

Sister of the bride, Mrs. Alan Jacklin, was matron of honor; Mrs. Douglas McKinnon was bridesmaid, and Miss/Lorraine Blaser, bridesmaid. Trio of attendants wore icy green polished cotton dresses with contrasting cummerbunds and carried bouquets of roses. John Hamilton was best man and ushers were George Stradine, Eric Dodd, Arthur Dodd and Robert Knudsen.

K. Blaser proposed the toast to the bride at a reception held at 1775 Trimble Street. Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Mayhew, uncle and aunt of the bride, made all the floral arrangements.

The honeymoon will be spent motoring to Denver, Col., where the groom will be interning at Denver General Hospital. Dr. Dodd is a graduate in medicine from the University of British Columbia. The new Mrs. Dodd was a medical technician at Vancouver General Hospital.

Other out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. N. Sackett of Moose Jaw, Mr. and Mrs. D. Sackett of Prince George, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Steven of Boston Bar, B.C.

Women Writers Stage First Region Meeting

Women writers from all parts of British Columbia will meet in Vancouver this weekend for a regional conference sponsored by Vancouver and Vancouver Island Branches of the Canadian Women's Press Club.

Theme of the two-day conference is "A Faster Pace for the Age of Space." Panel discussions will cover new trends in reporting, radio and television writing, the free lance market and public relations.

Special guest at the conference will be Rose Duce, national president of CWPC, who is women's editor of the Western Producer, Saskatoon.

Others who will appear on the program are Evelyn Caldwell, Mamie Moloney, Vancouver columnist; Georgina Murray Keddel, Alaska Highway News, Fort St. John; Beth Gillanders, free lance writer and well known in radio and television; and Marion Armstrong, free lance writer and member of the CBC board of directors.

Winifred Mather, one of Canada's top fashion editors, will present her accessory

White Avalanche Seen for Spring

An avalanche of white in dresses, coats and suits is one of the most important fashions for spring.

In dresses there are textured silks, crepes, linens and chiffons. Many of the white dresses are decorated with fagoting, embroidery, rhinestone and beads. Softly bloused bodices are featured in the well-liked styles.

The white coat is most important with silhouette news in the sleeves, which are cut wide and short from draped shoulder seams, or flared. Many of the coats are collarless. A few are belted.

It is most important to keep whites white, advises dry cleaning establishments. This may not be as easy as you think.

Keeping whites white depends on the fibre content and fabric construction, the manner in which the white color has been produced in manufacture, as well as conditions of cleaning.

Consult your dry cleaner on the cleaning of your favorite white dress, suit or coat.

Welfare Workers

WINNIPEG (CP). — Poor pay and lack of public appreciation are two of the main reasons for a shortage of welfare workers in Canada, said Norman F. Cragg, executive secretary of the Canadian Welfare Council. Trained workers need six years at university and the pay is only $300 a month to start, he said here.

Keeping an Eye

HARLOW, England (CP). — A bowling alley is to be built in this Essex town which will have closed-circuit television, so bowling mothers can watch their children in the playground.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 2-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Janice Gross, age 11, of Milwaukee, Wis., for her question:

How Much Gold Is in the Sea?

There is probably enough of it in the sea to build every family a golden house. There is certainly enough of it there to make everyone in the world a millionaire. However, it is no easy matter to take the gold out of sea water. In fact, it would cost more to take it out than the gold is worth. There have been many get-rich-quick schemes to rob the sea of its gold, but none has ever paid off.

There was the German chemist Fritz Haber. In 1920 he sailed the laboratory ship Meteor back and forth across the Atlantic with the idea of filtering out gold from sea water. His plan was to use the gold to pay Germany's war debt after the First World War. He soon found that his laboratory ship cost more to run than the gold was worth. Gold sells at about $32 an ounce. In order to get seven cents worth of it, you would have to process one ton, or 31 cubic feet of sea water. In order to make the job worth while, you would have to process the water in cubic miles—and a cubic mile of water fills a tank one mile long, one mile high and one mile wide. The problem is that gold is not the only chemical dissolved in the sea. Compared with other substances, there is only a trace of it. Suppose you flooded a small room with sea water a foot deep and then evaporated it. You would be left with about 200 pounds of assorted powdery chemicals—mostly salts. Somewhere hidden in the heap would be fine fragments of gold, enough perhaps to cover a nickel. Sifting out the gold would be quite a job.

In a cubic mile of sea water, it is estimated that there is more or less 1,500 tons of dissolved gold. In the entire ocean, there is about 330 million cubic miles of sea water.

weight metal is being taken from the sea. Along with the assorted salts and minerals dissolved in the sea there are also tons of nitrates and phosphates. These chemicals are valuable soil fertilizers.

How did all this loot get into the ocean? It was stolen from the land by countless little running streams. Water dissolves gold and other chemicals from the soil and rocks and dumps all this loot into the ocean. This biggest of all robberies has been going on for millions of years.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Chipper Patterson, age 10, of Asheville, N.C., for the question:

Does a rat wear away his front teeth?

Mr. Rat belongs to the rodent family, a name which means gnawing. Rats, mice, beavers, squirrels and even porcupines are also rodents. These animals must gnaw, gnaw, gnaw to stay alive. For their front teeth are constantly growing, day by day getting longer and longer. A rodent must gnaw to keep his teeth filed down to a reasonable size. If he did not gnaw, those terrible teeth would grow right through his jaw. Keep this in mind if you have a pet mouse or perhaps a white rat. Give him plenty of tough food to gnaw and, just to make sure, put a log of wood in his cage on which he can file those constantly growing front teeth.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

PARIS—Van Johnson, the only "foreigner" in France who did not come here for the Summit Conference, was frankly telling me about the new Hollywood-in-the-Alps that has enticed so many stars to Switzerland, the land of yodeling and banks.

"I wish I had come to Switzerland to live five years ago," he said.

Apparently he had to settle down in Switzerland, to become a star on American TV playing a Paris travel agent.

"Gene Kelly directed this pilot film in Paris of me playing a trouble-shooter for a Paris travel agency. It looks like it's sold for next year. It's called 'An American in Paris,' the same title as Gene's movie, 'An American in Paris'."

Jan Sterling's the woman and Judi Meredith plays her daughter.

Van's living in Vevey, Switzerland, frequently playing tennis with his neighbor, Charles Chaplin.

On a clear day he can see the Matterhorn, also Bill Holden, George Sanders, Mel Ferrer and Audrey Hepburn, and Jack Palance.

But not his wife Evie who flew home and stayed. "She loves her Beverly Hills," Van said. "She couldn't find a house in Switzerland she liked."

"She took Schuyler—she's 12—home to decide what to do."

"She went to Elizabeth Arden's place, 'Main Chance,' in Arizona, with Roz Russell. Next thing I knew, somebody told me they heard on BBC that she was divorcing me."

"That was a bat in the eye. I keep writing to her, but I don't get any answer."

Van's one of the Americans who figure to pay less income tax by becoming European residents for a time.

"But even if that didn't hold up, I'd stay here anyway because I love it," he said.

Van doesn't want always to act. He would like to write, paint—and travel, he said.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y.—The Andre Porumbeano (Gamble Benedict) will record the "Song of Solomon."

Ontario Tory Leader Dead

TORONTO (CP)—Alexander David McKenzie, 65, strategy leader of Ontario's Progressive Conservative party, died of a heart attack at his Toronto home Sunday night.

As president of the Ontario PC Association, Mr. McKenzie engineered six provincial elections and 20 by-elections and won every time.

Up to 3,000 people were expected to watch the 1st Battalion PPCLI carry out a complete dress rehearsal this afternoon for the Trooping of the Color ceremony Friday.

The rehearsal, scheduled to start at 2 p.m., was opened to the public because of limited accommodation for the actual ceremony Friday.

The salute today was to be taken by Brig. J. W. Bishop, British Columbia area commander. On Friday, the salute will be taken by Rear-Admiral H. S. Rayner, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast. Otherwise today's dress rehearsal was to be exactly the same as the Friday ceremony, which comes on the eve of Army Day across Canada.

The ceremony has a long tradition within the army, dating back to the 17th century, when it was the custom for different infantry regiments to be distinguished by a particular color.

RALLYING POINT

The facing of each man's uniform and the color or banner carried by each regiment was the same color, while the color itself was used as a rallying point in battle. Thus it was important that every man learned to know and recognize his regiment's color so he could follow it in battle.

The color therefore was trooped, or paraded through the ranks so every man could see it.

This ancient custom is the basis of the ceremony carried out by the PPCLI today and Friday.

Ontario issued about 380,000 angling licences to non-residents in 1958—residents need no licences.

Last Show Tonight For 'Brigadoon'

Tonight, for the last time, the miraculous village of Brigadoon will appear through the stage mists at the Royal Theatre.

Opportunity to see an up-to-date Broadway musical show in Victoria would be non-existent if it were not for the Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society, which is presenting this medolious and charming Loewe and Lerner opus under the direction of Flora Nicholson and Derek MacDermot.

With Mrs. Nicholson's stage direction, Mr. MacDermot leading an orchestra of Victoria Symphony players, sets by Theatre-Under-the-Stars studio, costumes by Malabar's of Winnipeg, and dances by the Wynne Shaw and Adeline Duncan studios, this offers a pleasurable and unique evening's entertainment.

MAMMOTH CARIBOU, largest STOL (short takeoff and landing) aircraft in the world, was unveiled in Vancouver Tuesday. Press and radio men saw the 26,000-pound craft, Canadian-designed and built by De Havilland of Montreal, take off in 280 feet, land

DE HAVILLAND SHOWS LATEST DEVELOPMENT

Canadian-Built 'Caribou' Said 'Plane of Tomorrow'

By HAL MALONE
Times Business Editor

Had a look at "the aircraft of tomorrow" Tuesday. Rode in it, too. Mighty impressive.

Built by Canadian hands, designed by Canadian brains, and test-piloted by Canadian crews, the De Havilland DCH-4 "Caribou" may one day be a familiar sight over the B.C. landscape.

The Caribou seems the answer to the task of ferrying men and equipment to B.C.'s Rocky Mountain trench if Mr. And Wenner-Gren gets serious about his Peace River project. It could similarly supply the ingredients for the Columbia power project or any other major construction job in B.C.

As Pacific Western Airlines executive W. H. "Sandy" Wellburn said: "Man, if we had had the Caribou on the Klamath-Kemano project our consumption of headache pills would have been a lot lower than it was."

"BIG SISTER"

Unveiled at Vancouver airport, the Caribou proved to be a sort of "big sister" for the Beaver and Otter aircraft which De Havilland has successfully turned out for a number of years. Bush pilots swear by—not at—both the Beaver and Otter for their dependability, ruggedness and workability.

Big sister? Big indeed. While the Beaver has a gross weight of 5,100 lbs. and the Otter tips the scales at 8,000 lbs., the Caribou, like its animal namesake comes in the giant economy size—26,000 lbs.

For a big fellow the Caribou is light off its feet.

"That," said C. H. "Punch" Dickens, OBE, DPC, De Havilland sales director, "is one reason we're so proud of her."

Fully loaded (24 passengers or 3½ tons of cargo) the Caribou needs only 540 feet to become airborne. Setting down she scrums even more on the landscape—requiring only 525 feet. Double, deep flaps give it the big uplift and the fast slowdown.

In test runs for PWA, press and radio personnel, the Caribou made a cargo-less takeoff in about 280 marked feet, landed in 220 feet. She has a flight range of 64 mph to 330 mph, climbs 1,600 feet per minute.

The last two facts raised some eyebrows when recited by Mr. Dickens. Slowing down the Caribou to 56 knots or 64 mph conjured visions of the 13-ton giant plummeting earthward like a dead pheasant. "Not at all," said Mr. Dickens. "We'll take you up and show you."

He did. And he showed us. How it stays up at that trailing speed involves aerodynamic principles slightly too involved for this 30-mph cruiser to understand.

Another thing the Caribou can do is shut off one of its 2,000 horsepower Pratt & Whitney engines and tool along as if nothing was wrong. There's no tilting, no sliding, no "sorry for the inconvenience" sensation.

SHORT TAKE-OFF

The Caribou's attraction, apart from its STOL (short-off and landing— it needs a maximum of 1,500 feet of runway) is that it can take off from practically anything—loose soil, grass or concrete.

In tests the Caribou managed its claimed short take-off and landing from a 500-foot strip plowed 12 inches deep and water-soaked overnight. Conditions don't bother this bird. De Havilland has sold five Caribous to the U.S. Army for cargo and paratrooper use. Uncle Sam liked it so well he's ordered another 22.

Whether PWA or any other B.C. air line buys one depends on whether PWA or some other air line gets a fat contract to haul men and machinery for an extensive project like the Peace or the Columbia.

As PWA's Wellburn said: "They may be cheaper by the dozen. But at $495,000 per copy... well, if we get the Peace job OK. If there is no Peace job..." — he turned and looked at the best in PWA's barn, a DC4.

B.C. 'Brainwashes' Trio of Americans

Three young United States tourist-boomers are going to be British Columbia tourist-boomers—hopes British Columbia.

The trio got a good start here Tuesday on a "brainwashing" tour laid on by the B.C. Travel Bureau, an agency of the recreation department.

Impressed with Victoria were Caroline Unger, of the Inland Automobile Association in Spokane; Margaret Sullivan, assistant manager of the Portland Chamber of Commerce Visitors' Service; and Mrs. Alice Nosen, of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce.

"It's enchanting," said Mrs. Nosen.

The gay Victoria Day weekend was her first visit to the city.

"What delighted me most," said Miss Unger, "was being able to see the boats sailing in and out of the harbor from my hotel room."

The Victoria visit was the start of a 10-day trip through British Columbia. The trio now has gone to the Mainland and will see the Okanagan, Fraser Canyon and West Kootenay areas.

Nine-Year-Old Car Thief Makes Dash for Freedom

Greater Victoria police hunted a child motorist believed to be only nine years old after a stolen car he drove was chased at speeds up to 80 miles an hour at about 8.15 p.m. Tuesday.

IN ESQUIMALT

Can't Force Them to Cut Boulevards

Property owners cannot be compelled to care for the street boulevards in front of their homes, Esquimalt council was told by its solicitors Tuesday.

The Municipal Act allows a municipality to force homeowners to clear away snow, ice and rubbish from in front of their homes but this does not include maintenance of boulevards.

said Coun. Vincent Rush. "Some are beautifully kept and others are just a plain disgrace."

A report on feasibility of providing parking space in front of the new Little League baseball park at Lampson and Colville will be made to the next council meeting, Coun. G. K. Sammon was told.

"It's dangerous there now," he commented in urging establishment of a parking space "before an accident happens."

Reeve A. C. Wurtele and Coun. Edward de Costa were appointed delegates to the June 15 annual meeting in Courtenay of the Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities.

Victoria chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada was given permission to hold a tag day June 11.

Copenhagen's large new airport building to be opened in April, 1960, is capable of handling 1,640 passengers an hour.

Car-Testing Centre Impractical—Mayor

A city car-testing centre for spotting unsafe vehicles may be desirable but not practical, Mayor Percy Scurrell said Tuesday.

He was commenting on a coroner's jury recommendation that all cars be tested annually for safety. The recommendation was attached to an accidental death verdict after a hearing into the exhaust-fume poisoning of 24-year-old Gary

The boy ran off after another motorist took him to an address in the 2300 block Quadra and was still at large today.

A. W. Dysart, 1012 Dunkirk, told police he saw a car being driven on Burnside near Douglas, with a child behind the wheel.

STALLED

He followed in his own car, reaching speeds of 75 and 80 miles an hour before the first car stalled at Trans-Canada.

Dysart said he took the keys and boy from the first car, spoke to the boy and was told his parents lived at a certain Quadra Street address, where they then drove.

Occupants of the house at that number did not know the boy. At this point he ran away. Police said the car was reported stolen by owner Milly Rant, 219 Suzanne, from a service station lot near where Dysart first saw the boy driving.

ALEX TURNBULL

School Official Retiring

Forty years of education are ending for Alexander Turnbull, provincial superintendent for Greater Victoria School District 61.

The education department has announced Mr. Turnbull's retirement, effective Sept. 30. Mr. Turnbull began teaching in B.C. in 1917. After 25 years of elementary and junior high school posts, many of them in New Westminster, he became an inspector.

Before coming to Victoria seven years ago, Mr. Turnbull was a superintendent at Prince Rupert, Salmon Arm, Chilliwack and Penticton.

Money-Seekers Duped

TORONTO (CP)—John H. Shorse, 62, convicted of duping people of as much as $100,000 to search for a mythical Spanish fortune, Tuesday was remanded to May 31 for sentencing. Testimony showed he swindled scores of Canadian, British and American businessmen into investing in a scheme to recover $400,000,000 in Spanish money supposedly removed from Spain during the Civil War.

CAR FEE $5 ONE WAY

$2 Fare Set For Ferries

The B.C. government's new ferry service will go into effect June 15 with a one-way-only fare schedule.

Fares approved today by a cabinet order in council are $2 each person and $5 per car. There are no return fares.

Ferry manager Monty Aldous said the two government-built ferries Sidney and Tswassen will run every two hours between the terminals after which they are named.

First boat will be at 7 a.m. daily and last boat at 9 p.m. Mr. Aldous said he knew of no snags to hold up the target date for the first public run June 15.

He said he was going out to Swartz Bay to check on construction today.

A splashy pre-inaugural run is planned for June 9. It will show off the new service to tourist officials and the press. The fares make allowance for half-rate for children between five and 12. Those under five will travel free. Ministers who can readily identify themselves will also travel half-free.

Parties of 10 will get a fare reduction to $150. Parties of 25 or more will go for $110 apiece.

A standard stateroom will cost $2, a de luxe stateroom $3.

Wheat Deal Criticized

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's credit sale of wheat to Poland—instead of a straight cash deal—has proven "embarrassing" for Canada among nations seeking orderly competition in export credit. H. T. Aitken, president of the Export Credits Insurance Corporation, told a Commons committee today.

The $13,900,000 wheat deal was authorized by the governor-in-council on a three-year credit basis and guaranteed by the corporation although wheat is normally sold on a cash basis.

Mr. Aitken told the Commons public accounts committee that the wheat deal was "continually thrown up in my face" at international gatherings of export credit insurers.

BED SHORTAGE

Probe Asks Hospitals Review

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons estimates committee, expressing concern for hospital crowding, today recommended that an immediate review be made to determine the available space in relation to demand for beds.

The report, tabled in the Commons by chairman Art Smith (PC-Calgary South), urged federal, provincial and municipal government to assess the results of this survey so as to avert any future critical bed shortage and to provide more space for critically-ill patients "by attacking the problem of chronic bed care."

The report said out-patient care and diagnostic services bear a direct relation to in-patient hospital congestion and suggested to see where changes might relieve the in-patient hospital load.

MENTAL ILLNESS

Other recommendations:

1. Further money grants should be provided to increase scientific knowledge of the causes of mental illness and its treatment.

2. A joint federal-provincial study should be started now to improve standards of treatment and facilities for care of mentally ill.

3. With 70,000 Canadians in hospitals or mentally defective training schools, "too little money has been directed toward research on mental illness."

4. The federal health department should speed up its survey of resources and facilities to cope with the problem of emotionally-disturbed children.

5. Physical fitness of Canadians "is cause for concern," and it is hoped that a joint committee of the federal health department and Canadian Medical Association studying the problem will find a comprehensive plan to improve physical fitness standards.

6. With 5,847 children in institutions ineligible for family allowances, the government should consider changing this "unfair and unjust" exclusion.

7. The federal government should review its policy of not paying family allowances for children of servicemen stationed abroad.

8. Elimination of the means test for payment of allowances to blind persons should be considered by the federal government.

9. Deaths among Indian babies before they reach the age of one year account for 40 per cent of Indian deaths—three times higher than the average for the rest of Canada.

10. Every effort should be made to speed up improvement of health facilities and increased medical care should be provided, starting with recruiting of nursing staffs in Indian and Eskimo communities.

11. On civil defence, the national survival program should be speeded up by the federal government on raising standards of "delinquent provincial programs."

COST LOWER, HELLYER CLAIMS

Canada 'Misled' on Arrow

OTTAWA (CP)—Paul Hellyer accused the government today of grossly misleading the public on estimated cost of the Arrow interceptor program.

The Liberal MP for Toronto Trinity said in the Commons defence committee that 200 Arrows could have been produced for about $1,200,000,000 or $1,000,000,000 less than the figure given by Defence Minister Peakles and Associate Defence Minister Sevigny.

Mr. Hellyer, former Associate defence minister, said Mr. Peakles had based the higher figure on an armament control system and a missile which the government had cancelled in 1958.

"This is an unbelievable use of hypothetical figures and gives a distorted figure to the extent of $1,000,000,000," Mr. Hellyer said.

ENTIRE PROGRAM

Deputy Defence Minister Frank Miller said the $2,200,000,000 embraced costs from the start of the Arrow program.

Mr. Hellyer said that Mr. Peakles had told the commit-

OTTAWA (CP)—A smaller-than-normal drop in Canada's unemployment between mid-March and mid-April left the country's jobless rolls at 517,000 on April 23, the government estimated today.

MONTREAL (CP)—The difference between the Canadian and United States dollars stood at one cent at noon today.

The Bank of Montreal quoted the noon discount rate at 1 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, making the U.S. dollar worth 99 cents.

This is the lowest U.S. discount level—or highest dollar value—since Jan. 8, 1958, when it was also 1 per cent.

'GUTS AND INITIATIVE' WANTED SAYS BENNETT

(See Also Page 15)

LONDON (CP)—Premier Bennett today began telling British investors how B.C. is waiting for them to come with "guts and initiative."

He opened a busy two-week tour of Britain with a luncheon given by the merchant banking firm of Brown, Shipley and Company, Limited.

His message to all potential investors, he says, will be:

"We want British capital and British workers—investors and people who are prepared to work darned hard and who do not expect a fortune just to fall into their laps."

Doctors Rapped By Sask. Premier

ESTEVAN, Sask. (CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas Tuesday night accused some members of the medical profession with using "abominable, despicable and scurrilous" methods to defeat the CCF's proposed compulsory, prepaid medical plan.

The premier was speaking to about 1,000 people at an election rally here.

Waving a tabloid-size circular, Premier Douglas said it contained "unbelievable" propaganda aimed at scuttling the prepaid medical insurance scheme he hopes to implement in 1961.

"I warn you that a very serious campaign is being carried on against the plan, not only by some doctors but by hack writers they have brought in from Eastern Canada and the United States to put out stuff like this."

He said he did not accuse any political party for circulating the material because it bore no name—required under the Canada Elections Act.

"I do not object," the premier said, "to people opposing the medical plan, but I do object to them getting into the gutter to do it."

TIDAL WAVE MAY HAVE KILLED 800

Japan Begins Mopping Up

TOKYO (CP)—Japan today began cleaning up the destruction caused by a series of tidal waves which raced across the Pacific from quake-hit Chile and slammed into the eastern coast of these islands.

Japan was the worst hit among several Pacific islands battered by the giant waves, including the Philippines, New Zealand, Hawaii, New Guinea and the Solomon Islands.

The death toll in Japan was counted in scores. Though still unsettled as rescue workers dug through debris, one unofficial report put the deaths as high as 800. Police said at least 150,000 were homeless.

The police listed 85 dead, 85 missing and 654 injured, 2,621 ships sunk or washed out to sea, 4,079 homes destroyed, 41,800 flooded, dikes broken at 80 places and 251 bridges wrecked.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today designated sections of Hawaii recently hit by tidal waves as a major disaster area eligible for federal relief funds.

TIDAL WAVES built up by earthquakes in Chile (1) hit New Zealand (2) with most of damage at Auckland; central and northern Japan (3) and killed 33 persons in Hilo (4) Hawaii's second largest city. Coast of California was hit from Los Angeles to Oregon border (5) In Alaska (6) a 15-foot wave smashed against Montague Island. (AP Newmap)

Toll Nears 5,000

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—A new earthquake which authorities described as of "cataclysmic proportions" hit southern Chile today, bringing new tidal waves and volcano eruptions.

Government officials expressed fear the death toll would surpass 5,000.

Two million were believed homeless.

Nine volcanoes which had been silent for half a century belched forth smoke, ash and lava over a wide area of southern Chile already devastated in the worst series of earthquakes in the history of the nation.

Today's quake was one of four major quakes since Sunday and authorities said the entire topography of the country was being changed. There have been a steady series of shocks during that period with some areas trembling without letup.

Seismologists said the major quake today was grade 12 on the international Mercalli scale—which is of cataclysmic proportions. They said it registered 9.2 on local Richter scale—though none higher than 9 has ever been reported before.

With it came one of the huge tidal waves that have wrecked villages all along the south Chilean coast.

BEELCHING FIRE

Two new volcanoes on the shores of Lake Rinihue added their horror to that of at least seven already known to be erupting. Osorno, the biggest of them all, was belching fire that could be seen for miles.

The formation of the new volcanoes—one already more than 300 feet high—displaced the lake bed and sent masses of water surging into the landslide-dammed San Pedro River, creating a new threat to quake-devastated Valdivia.

The rumbling peaks jetted smoke as much as 23,000 feet in the air, and some of them also belched glowing streaks of lava. Fortunately, few Chilean towns are located near the volcanoes that were in action today.

MOORE LOOTING

New reports of looting came from the disaster zone. In the Puerto Saavedra region, half-drowned by this week's tidal waves, troops were ordered to take "energetic action" to put a stop to "acts of pillage" by Indians.

A new tidal wave lashed Chile's southern coast Tuesday and a major earthquake was reported in the offshore Chile Islands.

Observers at the University of Chile said this week's earthquakes were "the most intense ever recorded." Seismologists in the Canary Islands said they were worse than those which devastated southern Peru or the Moroccan Riviera earlier this year.

Spouse Smartens Up

LONDON—The honeymoon is over. Pat has learned how to count her change in English money. She's the banker. I'm the payer-out.

Up to a day or two ago, I'd go to her and tell her I needed three or four pounds and she'd give it to me, multiplying the sum by three and then subtracting a random amount to convert it into dollars.

"Let's do it in guineas," she'd say. "That's closer to three bucks."

Naturally she never got any change back from me. Occasionally she might ask where the previous instalment had gone. It was a simple matter to baffle, if not satisfy, her.

"Well," I'd explain, "we took the young people to eat last night. That was better than a couple of quid."

"Wait a minute," she'd interrupt. "You said it was only a little more than two pounds."

So I'd explain that a pound and a quid were the same thing.

She'd say "Oh," meaning acceptance without understanding.

Or maybe the paper-outer's funds would just sort of dribble away, and defy accounting.

I'd tell her I'd spent four bob and a shilling on a new pair of shoes.

She would challenge me, saying tobacco was only four shillings and sixpence.

"That's what I said," I'd reply.

"No you didn't. You said four bob and a tanner. What's a bob, what's a tanner?"

So I'd break it down for her patiently, careful not to make it too clear. I was able to slip away a shilling or two on practically every exchange.

For weeks she had difficulty telling a florin from a half-crown without her glasses on.

"What's half-a-crown?" she'd ask.

"Two and six," I'd reply.

"Two quid?" she'd ask.

"No, two bob, two shillings."

"Yes, but two shillings are a florin, like this," and she'd extract a silver coin from her transparent plastic change purse.

"Let's have a look at it," I'd say, point out the word florin on the back and then pocket the coin while she was looking at half-a-crown to note the difference.

All in all, it was a pretty good system—a shilling here, a shilling there. I found I was making enough to buy a pint of mild-and-bitter for each of the people in Victoria who'd asked me to have one for them—and an amazing percentage of Victoria's population had made that request. A mild-and-bitter runs about a bob—depending on who makes it and where it is served. You pay a bit more if you move to the socially more acceptable bars in a public house.

But all the confusion I have contrived to keep Pat from knowing what's what financially—and I thought Mr. Bennett could not have done better—has failed. She knows half-a-crown from a florin in the dark now. She has even come to realize that the 12-sided brass coin that looks like our wartime bronze nickel is a thrupenny bit, worth three of the big round copper ones.

And what can you do with a copper? Well, two will buy a box of matches, four will place a phone call, with appropriate pushing of "Button A" not "Button B." And she has spent considerable time for the sake of a long way from their own home washrooms.

So everything ought to be simple, currency-wise for the travelling Stotts. But it isn't. We went to the bank the other day to get funds for a trip to Rome. Brother, have we got problems. The new and the old French francs are both in circulation. One new franc equals 100 old ones. And when it comes to Italian notes some are big enough to paper the wall in a fair-sized room.

Pat has been doing so well on this I think I'll leave the foreign cabbage up to her.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Pennies for Princess

LONDON—The most unusual wedding present Princess Margaret will get will be the contract she signed with the late Sir James Barrie when she was a schoolgirl.

On her third birthday in 1933 Barrie was invited to Glamis Castle by the late King and the Queen Mother when they were the Duke and Duchess of York. He sat next to her at her birthday tea and was enchanted by her.

Several of the things she said he incorporated in his last play, The Boy David, which was produced three years later, and when he met her he said jokingly that she was entitled to a penny royalty on each performance.

He forgot about the incident but some time later George VI carried on the joke by sending Barrie a "threatening" letter, reminding him of his promise and informing the playwright that he would hear from his lawyers if the verbal contract were not made good.

Barrie had a legal document drawn up, to which the signatures J. M. Barrie and Margaret Rose were affixed. After the run of the play he planned to take the pennies to the Palace in a canvas bag but death intervened in 1937.

The contract was a proud possession of Lady Cynthia Asquith, Barrie's secretary for 20 years, who died just recently. It is her son, Michael Asquith, who is sending it along as one of Princess Margaret's wedding gifts.

Royal City To Get New Courthouse?

A new law courts for New Westminster was hinted today by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Mr. Bonner said complaints of overcrowding in the ancient, cramped courts had been somewhat eased by two actions from his department—transferring of many cases to the Chilliwack assizes; addition of an extra court room by better use being made of existing space.

However, Mr. Bonner added: "We want to avoid expensive interim arrangements to provide a proper court house."

Also under study was an addition to the Vancouver law courts, he said.

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Intriguing Themes for Big Show

It often happens that people living in a district are unaware that a flower show is taking place within a few blocks of their homes.

We hope that by mentioning these events in this column it will encourage the gardeners nearby to participate and give more distant gardeners the urge to attend.

Tomorrow, the 15th annual flower show will open at 2:30 p.m. in the Shawinigan Lake A.A. Hall.

This event, sponsored jointly by the S.L. Women's Institute and the S.L. Parent-Teacher Assoc., includes house plants, floral specimens, artistic arrangements, and a section for photography.

INTRIGUING THEMES

Some of the classes in the decorative arrangement sections, both junior and adult, have the most intriguing themes. Since both garden and wild flowers may be used, the "Symphony in Pink" class should give exhibitors leeway for some excellent entries.

Interesting to see will be the "Woodland Theme," making use of weathered wood, berries, and other materials found in the woods.

I can think of a perfectly stunning (to me!) arrangement for "What can you do with three flowers?" even if the judges thought differently.

"SHAWNIGAN SALUTE"

Most original and interesting will be the older children's "Salute to Shawnigan" using local wood, grasses, and weeds, and the junior's "Comic figure made of fruits, vegetables, flowers, seeds."

The more closely I read the extensive schedule which has been prepared, the more I regret being unable to attend, but I trust many gardeners from other parts of the Island will converge on Shawnigan Lake to make this show another highlight of the district.

SPECIAL WEEK

One in 10 Has Trouble With Hearing

Canadian Hearing Society, which functions solely to aid Canadians with impaired hearing, has designated this week as Canada's second annual Better Hearing Week.

Purpose of the week is to encourage the one Canadian in every ten who has impaired hearing to seek advice in order to overcome the handicap.

It also seeks to educate those with perfect hearing to understand the problems of those who are impaired.

President of the non-profit organization is J. Stanley Whitehead, FCA, and managing director and general secretary is Brig. R. E. A. Morton.

The society advises those with ear trouble first, not to worry, then to visit an ear doctor for examination, use a hearing aid without being self-conscious, study speech or lip reading, and always remember that the only difficulty is in the ear, not the brain.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP) — More aggressive buying by international and export houses appeared near the close today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

The flax market started irregular in early stages but firmed up at the end of trading. Reports indicated 160,000 bushels had been sold to East Germany and that additional quantities went to the United Kingdom and the continent.

Oats and barley trade was slow with prices moving in a narrow range. There was mention of small overseas business in barley to Great Britain.

Rye was fairly steady in commission house trade.

Overnight export loadings included: Japan 460,000 bushels; Algeria 425,000; West Germany 360,000; Hong Kong 20,000.

Class two, 10-14 and domestic wheat prices were all up % cent from Tuesday.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market mustered a steady to firm range in the early afternoon today with corn leading the advance.

Improved export business accounted for a good part of the rally. India bought 750,000 bushels of hard wheat.

Teamsters' Deadline Saturday

OTTAWA (CP) — The 40,000-member Teamsters' Brotherhood will be automatically ousted from the Canadian Labor Congress this Saturday unless it agrees to live up to the CLC's no-raiding rule.

The Teamsters' union was given until May 28 to abide by the Congress constitution which forbids unions to raid each other's membership ranks.

So far, a CLC spokesman said Tuesday, the Teamsters' Brotherhood has remained mum—doing nothing about the CLC expulsion order issued last month in Montreal at the Congress biennial convention.

The Teamsters were found guilty of raiding the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, which represents workers in the CPR's new merchandise service at Vancouver.

TRUCK DRIVER'S FAMILY IN FAIR'S DREAM HOME

First Sleep in a House They Can Call Their Own

By JOHN MIKA
Mr. and Mrs. Donald McIntosh and their two children slept in a house of their own for the first time Tuesday night.

Reason: the 44-year-old truck driver for the city won the $35,000 value dream home when Miss Victoria Saturday picked one of the two tickets he bought at the Junior Chamber of Commerce annual fair.

MONTÉ ROBERTS

Believe it or not, I went all the way to Vancouver, travelling in Her Majesty's Canadian ships, at that, to bring this back:

A gentleman in the United States government service was given an assignment in Canada, and accordingly moved his family to this country.

Among his family was a small boy we shall call Johnny, because all small boys in anecdotes are called Johnny.

Johnny, of course, was sent to school, and his new teacher wanted to find out how much he knew.

"Johnny," she said, "can you count?"

"Yes, ma'am," said Johnny.

"Johnny," said teacher, "can you count from one to ten?"

"Yes, ma'am," said Johnny.

"Then supposing you count from one to ten," said teacher.

"Yes, ma'am," said Johnny. "One, uh, two."

"Go on," said teacher.

"Two, uh, three," said Johnny.

"What comes after three?" asked teacher.

"Um, er, three, uh, four," said Johnny.

"Hurry up," said teacher.

"Er, four, um, five, uh, six," said Johnny.

"That's better," encouraged the teacher. "Go on, Johnny."

"Five, uh, six, seven, er, eight," stumbled Johnny.

"You're nearly there," praised teacher.

"Seven, eight, nine, ten," said Johnny, triumphantly.

"Very good," said teacher, "now, can you count backwards, from ten to one?"

"Yes, MA'AM!" cried Johnny.

"Go ahead, then," said teacher.

"Ten nine eight seven six five four three two one ah shucks," Johnny rattled off.

"My goodness," cried the teacher, "Wherever did you learn that?"

"My daddy used to work at Cape Canaveral," explained Johnny.

Peter Forward, Jaycee president, presented Mr. McIntosh with a gold key to the modern home at a ceremony Tuesday night and the family celebrated by sleeping in their new home for the one night.

When the house was moved and set up on a lot in a new subdivision on Douglas near Quadra, landscaped and hooked up to all utilities.

And none of it — furnished house, moving cost, lot and landscaping — will have cost Mr. McIntosh a cent more than the price of the tickets he bought last week.

"At first I couldn't believe it when we won it," said Mrs. McIntosh. "I didn't think it was possible."

HONEYMOON TOAST

"I've been making honeymoon (burned) toast ever since, I'm so excited."

"We've never owned a house before. We've rented the place we are in now (1271 Denman) for 10 years but we were thinking of moving out after this summer."

Mrs. McIntosh caught only a glimpse of the kitchen when she and her husband joined a crowd Saturday afternoon for a tour of the house.

"We had to go through so fast because of the crowd that I only saw the kitchen. I said, 'Wouldn't I love to have that kitchen.' I didn't know that I was going to get it."

CHILDREN CRIED

The children, Donald Jr., 11, and daughter, Robyn, 8, were excited too but in a reverse manner at first.

"They cried because they didn't want to move away and lose all their friends at George Jay School. But they felt better when we told them they could finish out the term and have the whole summer to make new friends," said Mrs. McIntosh.

Now busy packing the family possessions for the move to the new home, Mrs. McIntosh said she plans to take time out to give her personal thanks to Sherrin Molyard who picked the winning ticket as Miss Victoria.

"And I'd like to thank all the other people who bought tickets because that's what made this possible for us."

Mr. McIntosh has bought tickets on the dream house each year in the past.

Another excited Victorian Saturday night was G. A. Gibson, a soldier stationed at Work Point, who won the 1960 car put up as a door prize at the fair.

Ucluelet Woman Still in Coma After 12½ Weeks

Condition of a Ucluelet woman, in hospital in a coma 12½ weeks, since she was hurt in a two-car crash that killed her husband, remains unchanged, Royal Jubilee Hospital said today.

Mrs. Elsie Norton was brought here after the wreck near Ucluelet on the West Coast Road in February. Her husband Paul and another man were killed in the wreckage and Mrs. Norton received broken legs and head injuries.

Seven-year-old Robin Jones, of Nanaimo, who was transferred to Jubilee Hospital with similar injuries after an accident in March, has come out of his coma after 10 weeks. He also has a broken leg which is healing, the hospital said.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Adolphus Prince, 35 Obed, $40 and licence suspension for careless driving.

Warren Henry Nettles, 1315 Fernwood, $10 for driving with inadequate hand brake.

Drifting Logs Menacing B.C. Sea Lanes

Mariners were warned today to be on the lookout for drifting logs in B.C. waters, the result of tidal surges which broke up booms in various coastal areas Monday.

The surges were caused by the Chilean earthquake and tidal wave.

The marine agent at Victoria today notified all shipping that drifting logs are reported at various parts of the B.C. coast, and are considered menaces to navigation.

$40,000 DAMAGE

Possibly the most dangerous area is around Winter Harbor near the northwest tip of Vancouver Island, where the tide surges damaged a dock and wrecked a booming ground holding 2,000,000 feet of logs.

Officials of the W. G. Moore logging company said damage amounted to $40,000, and the operation will be shut down for a month while the logs are recovered.

Logs were also reported drifting in Quatsino Sound, just south of Winter Harbor, and in the Ucluelet area.

In the Howe Sound area, east of Bowen Island, a 10-pile dolphin was torn loose from the tides and is reported as a navigation hazard.

EIGHT WAVES

The tide gauge at Tofino registered eight small tidal waves Monday ranging from three to four feet.

One of the drifting log booms at Ucluelet cut the water supply line from Port Albion during Monday's tide surge. Exact extent of damage is not yet known, and there is adequate water on hand to last until repairs are made.

A 30-foot cabin cruiser which was holed and sunk by a drifting log in the Gorge Monday was hauled out high and dry at low tide today.

Repairs were being made to the hull so the craft, owned by J. W. Fairall, 508 Springfield, could be refloated at high tide late today.

Rites Thursday For Decorated Nursing Sister

Funeral services will be held at Sands Thursday at 3 p.m. for Mrs. Elsie Mabel Corrigan of Sooke, who died in hospital here Monday.

Born in Somerset, England, she trained at Guy's Hospital in London, and served in the First World War as a nursing sister and matron. She was decorated by King George V for her services.

After the war she travelled in Australia, New Zealand, and the United States before coming to Canada. She was at Royston before coming to Victoria, where she lived for four years before making a recent move to Sooke.

IT'S $175 IN PENNIES BETWEEN TWO SCHOOLS

The distance from the front entrance of Lansdowne Junior High School to the front entrance of the University of Victoria measures $175.

And that's how much the high school students have decided to raise to help out the university building fund, now nearing the $1,800,000 mark.

The goal was set when Grade 8 students calculated it would take 17,500 pennies, laid side by side, to cover the 1,050 feet between the main entrances of the two schools located kitty-corner from each other at Lansdowne and Richmond.

Boy's Drowning Ruled Accidental

The five-year-old son of a naval officer who fell into the sea near home Tuesday night drowned accidentally, Dr. E. C. Hart, coronor said today after an informal inquiry.

Esquimalt police said John Parrish, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Parrish, 429 Campbell, was playing on the rocks with a six-year-old companion at the foot of the block-long street in HMC Dockyard married quarters.

Anthony Fell, the older boy, was on his way home to report the accident when he encountered Mr. Parrish, who had been looking for his son for about 10 minutes.

The officer ran to the shore, found his boy floating face-down in choppy water three to five feet deep, and jumped in to rescue the child.

12-FOOT TOTEM Mungo Carves Memorial To Lost Son

Chief Mungo Martin is carving a memorial to his son. The 12-foot totem pole is now being created by the chief in his Thunderbird Park shop here. It will be erected May 28 at a ceremony in Courtenay.

Mungo's son, David, who was following his famous father's art, was drowned last year. He worked on many of the Martin totems, including the world's tallest, which stands in Beacon Hill Park, and the centennial gift to Queen Elizabeth.

The totem will be set in a stone monument. Its design features crests of the Martin family.

The chief is to start work on another project — a new totem for Thunderbird Park.

It is to be a copy of a totem at Kitwanoon on the Upper Skeena which was made famous in an Emily Carr painting of 1913, Mother and Child.

Bonus Ban Ordered On June 15

The B.C. government is banning trading stamps and bonus cards effective June 15.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today the government is putting into effect the Trading Stamp Act it held "poised" after its approval at the last session of the legislature.

It has been proclaimed in effect June 15.

Mr. Bonner said the move was to forestall spread of the bonus card type of super-market promotion now used in Shop-Easy stores.

It follows failure of the City of Vancouver to win a conviction against Shop-Easy in the courts under the Criminal Code.

"We have reason to believe," said Mr. Bonner, "that this game and a similar one are likely to become widespread in the province."

He said the government had received "most urgent" complaints from B.C. retailers about such promotions.

"The government has come to the conclusion it must enact the legislation."

At the time the act came before the legislature it was held in abeyance because there were no schemes operating in B.C. except the bonus game.

Mr. Bonner said today he did not want to see supermarkets develop into "gambling casinos."

The new act will cover all trading stamp-type promotions.

It refers to "any form of cash receipt, coupon, premium ticket or other device" given to customers to represent a premium or special discount.

Bonus cards are for cash prizes determined by a number sealed inside a card given to a customer and opened when he has bought $100 worth of groceries.

The new act, recommended by a special legislative committee, is complementary to the Criminal Code, said Mr. Bonner.

It makes it an offence to distribute stamps to merchants.

Cooler Heads Got 'Woodsman' To Spare Pole

Curious onlookers were denied a rare treat today as an axe-swinging motorist attacked an unyielding ex-giant of the forest, but was restrained from felling it — a Quadra Street power pole.

Spectators outside a used car lot noticed an ancient auto hook its rear bumper on a curbside pole and stop in its tracks.

A burly individual got out, surveyed the situation, reached in the trunk and produced a double-bitted feller's axe.

Under the size of a growing crowd he began chopping at the pole, but was finally persuaded to manoeuvre the car and bumper away from the timber instead.

Advance Tax Payments Lag in City

City comptroller Dennis Young has his fingers crossed that tax collections will pick up early next month when some 20,000 notices go out to Victoria ratepayers.

Up to the middle of this month, advance tax payments have totalled $770,000 — down slightly more than 2 per cent from last year.

The city faces "an alarming trend" if the 2 per cent isn't picked up before the year is out.

"It could reduce our revenue to a point where we would have to curtail expenditures," said Mr. Young. "Two per cent of our current tax levy for 1960 amounts to about $100,000 which is more than one mill."

Mr. Young added that the 2 per cent lag in payments so far this year is in addition to a 1½ per cent lag in 1959 when only 98.7 per cent of the tax levy was collected by year's end.

CONFIDENT

Last year's collection was affected by a specialized unemployment situation which has largely been overcome this year," said Mr. Young. "So I'm confident that when the tax bills go out the collection rate will pick up."

"But we can't say yet whether or not the trend will continue and we're watching the situation very closely."

Due date for the taxes is Oct. 1 but many persons have taken advantage of discounts to pay on account.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Where were the scenes taken on the two-dollar bill and the five-dollar bill? M.P.

A. There are no specific scenes on Canada's paper currency. Artists were commissioned to create "typical" Canadian scenes; the scene on the five-dollar bill is typical of B.C. foothill country, that on the two of eastern Manitoba or western Ontario, but neither depicts a specific place.

Q. Would you please tell me if I will be entitled to old age pension after 10 years' residence in Canada, and 70 years of age, even though I receive small amount of social security through the U.S.

A. There is no means test in connection with the old age pension, so you will be entitled to receive the Canadian pension.

DROP LESS THAN NORMAL

Jobless Total Up Over '59

OTTAWA (CP)—A smaller-than-normal drop in Canada's unemployment between mid-March and mid-April left the country's jobless rolls at 517,000 on April 23, the government estimated today.

The decline of 49,000 from the March 19 total of 566,000—the winter's peak—left the unemployment figure 72,000 higher than its level of 445,000 in mid-April last year.

The report by the Bureau of Statistics said the month's reduction in unemployment was smaller than the seasonal improvements that occurred in corresponding periods in 1958 and 1959. Last year an 80,000 drop in unemployment took place between mid-March and mid-April.

The report, based on a monthly labor force survey, showed the number of persons with jobs rose by 74,000 in the month to 5,742,000 on April 23. This compared with a 112,000 increase in the corresponding month of 1959. Most of this year's rise was in farm employment, up 52,000.

The estimated 517,000 unemployed at mid-April constituted 8.3 per cent of the country's labor force of 6,259,000. This compared with the April, 1959, figure of 7.3 per cent, when the labor force stood at 6,109,000. In April, 1959—a year of record post-war unemployment—the comparable figure was 8.6 per cent.

The report said there was a seasonal increase in construction employment during the month despite continued slackness in housebuilding. A number of small layoffs in manufacturing were reported, and forestry operations declined seasonally.

Women accounted for more than two-thirds of the 78,000 increase in job-holders in the year.

In British Columbia employment declined by 2,000 in the month to 517,000—some 5,000 less than a year earlier. There were declines from last year in construction, ship-building and smelting, but employment in forestry, lumbering and pulp and paper plants was still ahead of last year.

BED SHORTAGE

Probe Asks Hospitals Review

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons estimates committee, expressing concern for hospital crowding, today recommended that an immediate review be made to determine the available space in relation to demand for beds.

The report, tabled in the Commons by chairman Art Smith (PC-Calgary South), urged federal, provincial and municipal government to assess the results of this survey so as to avert any future critical bed shortage and to provide more space for critically-ill patients "by attacking the problem of chronic bed care."

The report said out-patient care and diagnostic services bear a direct relation to in-patient hospital congestion and suggested to see where changes might relieve the in-patient hospital load.

MENTAL ILLNESS

Other recommendations:

1. Further money grants should be provided to increase scientific knowledge of the causes of mental illness and its treatment.

2. A joint federal-provincial study should be started now to improve standards of treatment and facilities for care of mentally ill.

3. With 70,000 Canadians in hospitals or mentally defective training schools, "too little money has been directed toward research on mental illness."

4. The federal health department should speed up its survey of resources and facilities to cope with the problem of emotionally-disturbed children.

5. Physical fitness of Canadians "is cause for concern," and it is hoped that a joint committee of the federal health department and Canadian Medical Association studying the problem will find a comprehensive plan to improve physical fitness standards.

6. With 5,947 children in institutions ineligible for family allowances, the government should consider changing this "unfair and unjust" exclusion.

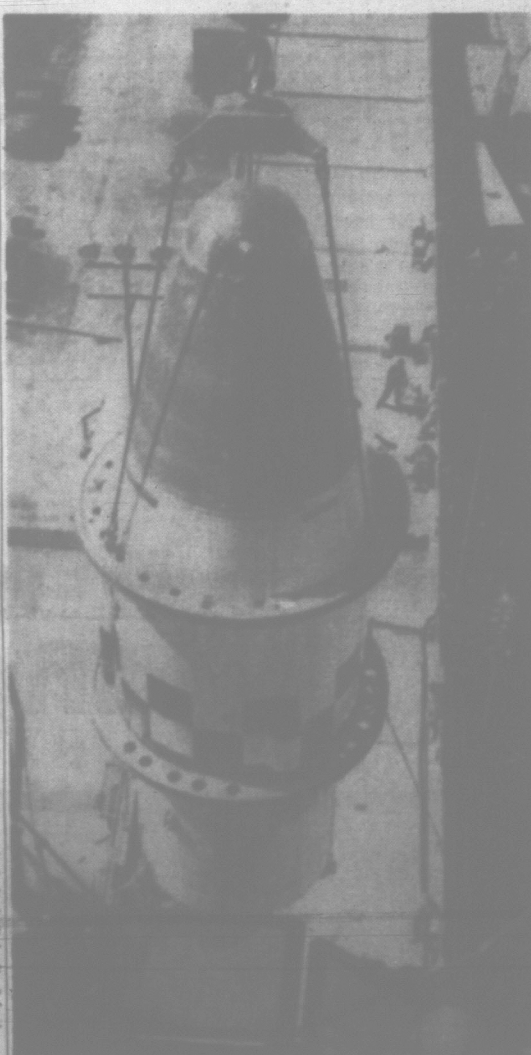

7. The federal government should review its policy of not paying family allowances for children of servicemen stationed abroad.

8. Elimination of the means test for payment of allowances to blind persons should be considered by the federal government.

Doctors Rapped By Sask. Premier

ESTEVAN Sask. (CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas Tuesday night accused some members of the medical profession with using "abominable, despicable and scurrilous" methods to defeat the CCF's proposed compulsory, prepaid medical plan.

The premier was speaking to about 1,000 people at an election rally here.

Waving a tabloid-size circular, Premier Douglas said it contained "unbelievable" propaganda aimed at scuttling the prepaid medical insurance scheme he hopes to implement in 1961.

"I warn you that a very serious campaign is being carried on against the plan, not only by some doctors but by hack writers they have brought in from Eastern Canada and the United States to put out stuff like this."

He said he did not accuse any political party for circulating the material because it bore no name—required under the Canada Elections Act.

Volcanoes Add New Terrors

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—A new earthquake which authorities described as of "cataclysmic proportions" hit southern Chile today, bringing new tidal waves and volcano eruptions.

Government officials expressed fear the death toll would surpass 5,000.

Two million were believed homeless.

Nine volcanoes which had been silent for half a century belched forth smoke, ash and lava over a wide area of southern Chile, already devastated in the worst series of earthquakes in the history of the nation.

Today's quake was one of four major quakes since Sunday and authorities said the entire topography of the country was being changed. There have been a steady series of shocks during that period with some areas trembling without letup.

Seismologists said the major quake today was grade 12 on the international Mercalli scale—which is of cataclysmic proportions. They said it registered 9.2 on local Richter scale—though none higher than 9 has ever been reported before.

With it came one of the huge tidal waves that has wrecked villages all along the south Chilean coast.

BEELCHING FIRE

Two new volcanoes on the shores of Lake Rinihue added their horror to that of at least seven already known to be erupting. Osorno, the biggest of them all, was belching fire that could be seen for miles.

The formation of the new volcanoes—one already more than 300 feet high—displaced the lake bed and sent masses of water surging into the land-slide-dammed San Pedro River, creating a new threat to quake-devastated Valdivia.

The rumbling peaks jetted smoke as much as 23,000 feet in the air, and some of them also belched glowing streaks of lava. Fortunately, few Chilean towns are located near the volcanoes that were in action today.

New reports of looting came from the disaster zone. In the Puerto Saavedra region, half-

DOLLAR DIFFERENCE: ONE CENT

MONTREAL (CP)—The difference between the Canadian and United States dollars stood at one cent at noon today.

The Bank of Montreal quoted the noon discount rate at 1 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, making the U.S. dollar worth 99 cents.

This is the lowest U.S. discount level—or highest dollar value—since Jan. 8, 1959, when it was also 1 per cent.

Wheat Deal Criticized

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's credit sale of wheat to Poland—instead of a straight cash deal—has proven "embarrassing" for Canada among nations seeking orderly competition in export credit, H. T. Aitken, president of the Export Credit Insurance Corporation, told a Commons committee today.

The $15,900,000 wheat deal was authorized by the governor-in-council on a three-year credit basis and guaranteed by the corporation although wheat is normally sold on a cash basis.

Mr. Aitken told the Commons public accounts committee that the wheat deal was "continually thrown up in my face" at international gatherings of export credit insurers.

Japan Begins Mopping Up

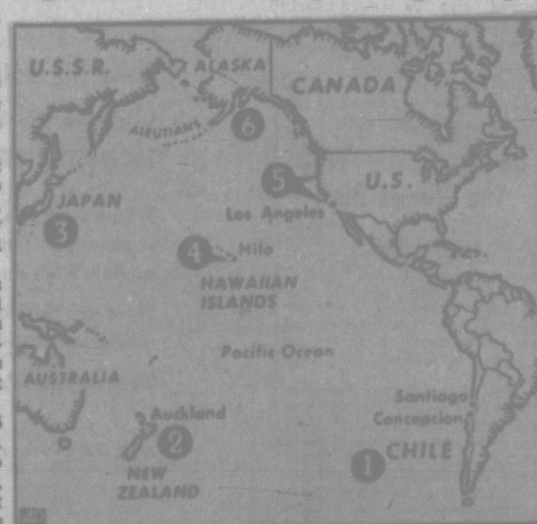

TOKYO (CP)—Japan today began cleaning up the destruction caused by a series of tidal waves which raced across the Pacific from quake-hit Chile and slammed into the eastern coast of these islands.

Japan was the worst hit among several Pacific islands battered by the giant waves, including the Philippines, New Zealand, Hawaii, New Guinea and the Solomons.

The death toll in Japan was counted in scores. Though still unsettled as rescue workers dug through debris, one unofficial report put the deaths as high as 800. Police said at least 150,000 were homeless.

The police listed 85 dead, 85 missing and 854 injured, 2,621 ships sunk or washed out to sea, 4,079 homes destroyed, 41,890 flooded, dikes broken at 80 places and 251 bridges wrecked.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today designated sections of Hawaii recently hit by tidal waves as a major disaster area eligible for federal relief funds.

TIDAL WAVES built up by earthquakes in Chile (1) hit New Zealand (2) with most of damage at Auckland; central and northern Japan (3) and killed 33 persons in Hilo (4) Hawaii's second largest city. Coast of California was hit from Los Angeles to Oregon border (5) in Alaska (6) a 15-foot wave smashed against Montague Island. (AP Newsmag)
